BEWARE PHONE SCAM

Community centre chairman sends a warning to Weymouth residents

by Harry Walton

A PHONE scam trying to get people's bank details has sparked a strong warning from police and community groups.

It was spotted by Weymouth's Park Community Centre chairman Ken Whatley who told the View what happened.

The simple and plausible approach has caused particular concern that elderly people unfamiliar with modern electronics might be particularly at risk.

Mr Whatley said: "This is all about getting credit card details including the security number so that it can be used for far larger purchases.

"I received a call from a "representative" of BT informing me that he was disconnecting my phone because of an unpaid bill. He demanded £31 immediately or it would be £118 to reconnect at a later date.

"He said his name was John Peacock and gave his phone number as 0800 0800 152."

"He wasn't even fazed when I told him I was with Virgin Media, alleging VM have to pay BT a percentage for line rental.

The man realised that Mr Whatley didn't believe his story and offered to prove he was from BT.

Mr Whatley said: "I asked how and he told me to hang up and try phoning someone. He would disconnect my phone to prevent this….and he did.

"My phone was dead - no engaged tone, nothing - until he phoned me again.

"Very pleased with himself, he asked if that was enough proof that he was with BT. I asked how the payment was to be made and he said credit card, there and then.

"I said that I didn't know how he'd done it, but I had absolutely no intention of paying him, I didn't believe his name or that he worked for BT. He hung up, I dialed 1471 but it was number withheld.

"I phoned his fictitious 0800 number and it wasn't recognised, so I phoned the police to let them know. I wasn't the first. It's only just started apparently, but it is escalating.

"Their advice was to let as many people as possible know of this scam. The fact that the phone does go off would probably convince some people it's real.

"How it's done is good but not that clever. The cutting off of the line is very simple. He stays on the line with the mute button on and you can't dial out but he can hear you trying. This is because the person who initiates a call is the one to terminate it. When you stop trying he cuts off and immediately calls back.

"You could almost be convinced. The sad thing is that it is so simple that it will certainly fool the elderly and vulnerable."

Inspector Pete Meteau of Weymouth Police warned: "The message must be – If in doubt don't give it out.

"People must be vigilant and follow the rules given by banks and not hand out credit card or, indeed, any information which might compromise their personal security."

HELEN Collins, 17, has lived in and around Rousdon all her life. She is currently a student at the Woodroffe sixth form studying a Creative and Media Diploma and Photography.

She has a great interest in photography and hopes to use these skills in her later employment.

Helen recently won a competition in Lyme Regis where her winning banner design was chosen to be printed and hung above the new shelters on the seafront.

This week Helen joined the View From team for her work experience.

WHAT do you like most about school?
I like the courses and the new skills and experiences I'm learning as well as socialising with friends. It's a really happy environment and all the teachers are really nice.

IS there anything you would change about school if you could?
It would have to be free school travel. Bus passes are already really expensive and are going up again.

WHAT is your favourite subject?
My favourite subject has to be photography learning new skills whilst researching the work of others to influence me and my work.

WHAT is it that interests you about photography?
I like the way that you can teach yourself different skills just by experimenting with angle, levels and editing skills. I like researching artists and responding to their work yet using my own unique styles.

WHAT kind of things to do you like to photograph?
I like to photograph anything really. From family to landscapes to still life.

WHY did you choose to come to a newspaper for your work experience?
I really liked the thought of being a reporter and taking pictures for something real-life that would be published. Also it could be a possible career option in the near future.

WHERE do you see yourself in five years time?
In five years time I'd like to be working for a successful business earning lots of money. Ha ha.

WHAT would be your dream job?
My dream job would be a photographer taking photo shoot pictures for billboards or magazines.

WHAT would be the first thing you would buy if you won the lottery?
I'd go on a nice holiday with my boyfriend somewhere hot and relaxing where I would think about what to spend the rest on.

IF you were stranded on a desert island what three items would you want with you?
That is a tricky question. It would have to be my comfy bed, hair straightners (battery operated) and food.

'What an unholy mess we have got ourselves into'

by Harry Walton

A HUGE row over new Weymouth seafront kiosks being banned from operating took a fresh twist when u-turn councillors gave them permission to trade.

The decision – which could open the council to compensation claims — left the authority's already tarnished reputation in tatters.

Councillors previously banned long time seafront trader Tony Deadman from operating on a temporary basis while he completed his new seafront kiosk because they felt they had to stand by a new seafront trading policy.

But Mr Deadman called for a consistent approach and pointed out that if his site didn't meet council requirements then neither did those of some other traders with new kiosks.

The council felt it had no choice but to order other sites to stop trading until they met specifications in their new contracts which left visitors with almost nowhere to buy a seafront ice-cream or a cup of tea.

Angry traders protested at the way council policy was costing them their livelihoods, residents and many councillors backed them, Ray Banham telling a meeting of Weymouth and Portland management committee that the whole situation was "disgusting" and "an absolute fiasco".

The situation was finally resolved in two ways. Firstly the meeting approved traders being allowed to open their new sites provided they had first given a written undertaking to complete required kiosk work by a certain date, the site to be shut again if that date arrived without the work being completed.

Secondly members agreed to lift an enforcement order against Mr Deadman for the removal of a temporary kiosk so he could trade provided he met Health and Safety requirements and provided that he also completed requirements for his new boat-shaped kiosk by September 30th.

A grueling, convoluted and at times bewildering debate was savagely summed up by Councillor Andy Blackwood who said: "What an unholy mess we have got ourselves into. The question is, how do we get ourselves out of it?"

He suggested a twin pronged approach which first allowed everyone to start trading again and secondly reviewed how the council had got itself into so much trouble to ensure it didn't happen again.

Councillor Christine James said that the council's reputation was now "a joke" while Councillor Kate Wheller said it was "zero" against "a catalogue of mismanagement and incompetence", adding: "We are now in the middle of the Spirit of the Sea Festival and you can't buy an ice-cream on the beach. I want a solution today."

She proposed letting kiosk sites trade subject to officers and operators meeting to agree a timetable for kiosk compliance and she proposed letting Tony Deadman trade subject to various measures.

Councillor Ian Roebuck and various colleagues then helped to fine tune this approach while being warned by their legal officers that there could be compensations issues, Councillor Ian Munro-Price suggesting that this could run to more than £1 million if there was deviation from contracts.

The meeting finally agreed a resolution and a delighted Tony Deadman said outside the meeting: "I am just relieved. At least common sense has finally prevailed.

"We must now try and salvage as much of the remaining holiday season as possible."

Award for primary school

SOUTHWELL Primary School headteacher Stuart McLeod (centre) wtih Stephen Jackson, head of customer relations at Community Initiatives Associates and Community Education Awards patron Esther Rantzen CBE.

SOUTHWELL Primary School on Portland has won the Community Initiatives Associates Money Management Project Award at the prestigious Community Education Awards 2011 held in Chigwell, Essex.

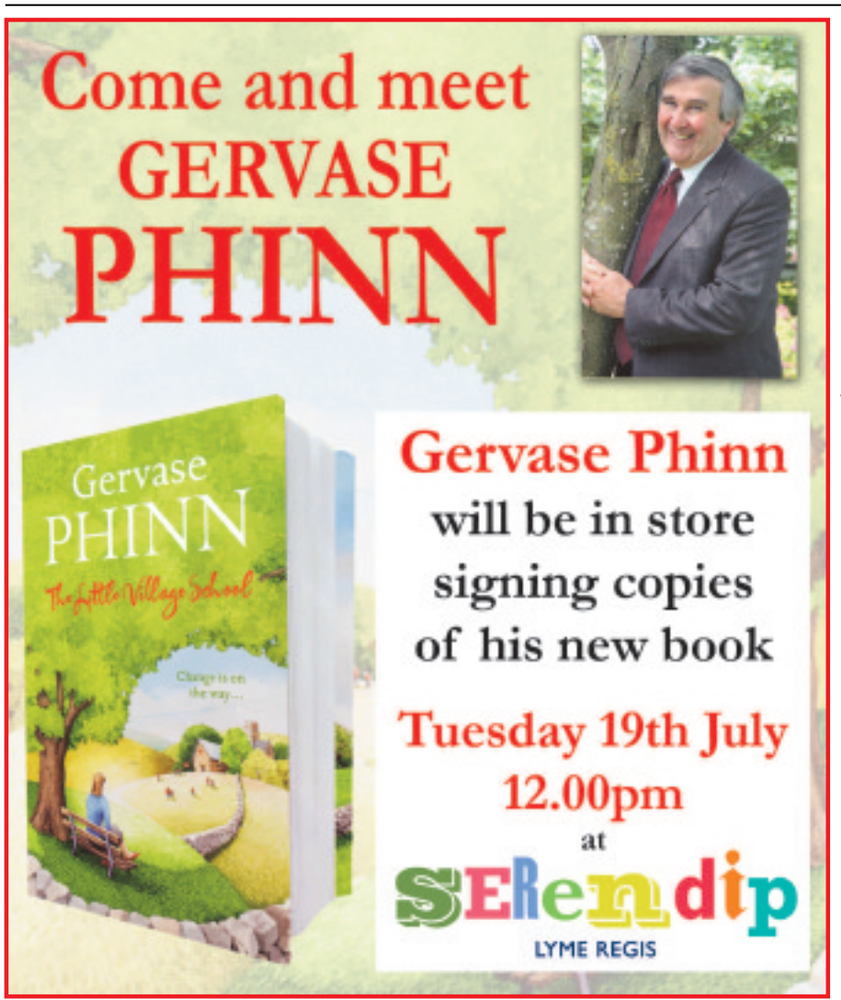

The Community Education Awards celebrates the efforts of those actively helping children and young people to become positive members of their communities. Organised by the Police Community Groups of Great Britain, they are aimed at schools that use education to encourage good citizenship and responsible decision-making.

Southwell Primary School's nomination was supported by headteacher, Stuart McLeod who praised the School Council's "Southwell Supersavers" own bank account. Pupils are encouraged to learn about the value of money through raising funds for play equipment through discos and biscuit sales. They have their own cheque book and each month they have to raise at least £15 i to send to Action Aid to sponsor a pupil in Brazil to go to school. Everything in excess can be used by the school council for the pupils' own projects. In the past they have raised £4,000 to buy a climbing frame and £2,000 to be put towards a ball court. Stuart McLeod believes the children can act responsibly to money at an early age.

He said, "It is important that children learn the value of money, the importance of saving and the avoidance of debt early on in their lives."

The Awards ceremony was hosted by broadcaster and journalist Esther Rantzen CBE. She is well known for her championing children's rights through her patronage of Childline.

For the pupils at Southwell Primary School the summer holidays rapidly approach but the learning doesn't stop then. They are trying to raise funds to buy a laptop computer for their partner school in Kenya. During the holidays up to 25 children will have the chance to 'borrow' £10 from the school council account to buy materials in order to become mini – Apprentices and make a small business; skills Lord Sugar himself would be proud of.

High importance on exporting

by Oliver Letwin MP

AS you will have noticed, dear reader, there have been plenty of hard hitting stories over the past few weeks.
Newspaper closures, phone-hacking, bailouts, strikes, by-elections and the continuing rumblings of the Arab Spring have dominated headlines.

I have decided, however, to use my column to write about the visit of the Chinese Premier, an event which failed to get as many column inches as it deserved.

China is of course becoming an economic superpower. But the sad fact is that our exports to China have not correlated with its growth rate.

This can be said, also, for the other 'BRIC' countries – Brazil, India and Russia. (In 2009 we exported more to Ireland than all the BRIC countries combined.)

I'm glad to say that the situation is now changing. We are diversifying the destination of our exports, and increasing the amount we export to the new powerhouses. Since the Prime Minister's trip to China last January, British exports have increased by 20 per cent.

The visit of Premier Wen is the most recent example of how we're placing high importance on exporting our goods and skills.

During the visit, £1.4bn of trade deals were signed off by Premier Wen — and he and the Prime Minister also restated the shared goal of raising bilateral trade to $100bn by 2015. Premier Wen also noted the importance of opening up the Chinese markets, increasing the amount of imports.

This is all very encouraging. Not only is it essential for the UK to increase its share of the Chinese market, it is also necessary that China increases the amount it imports in order to rebalance the global economy.

But trade and economics were not the sole focus of discussion.

The difficult balancing act consists of combining respectful and friendly diplomatic and trading relationships with frank discussion on basic human rights. Recent events, such as the jailing of the Chinese artist, Ai Weiwei, have added to concerns that, in China, freedoms and rights aren't accelerating at the same rate as the economy.

Unlike some of our European counterparts, the Prime Minister decided to balance trade negotiations with raising such concerns.

China is much, much bigger and more important than we are, and we have a lot to gain. But we've also got a lot to offer China, and not all of it is business. Of course we mustn't hector or lecture. But, as one of the world's two oldest democracies, we really do have to be willing to stick up for liberty. If we don't, who will?

With luck and effort, we can keep up the trading relationship — but also export more than skills and goods.

Delight over support for women's refuge

by Harry Walton

FACES lit up with delight when councillors backed measures to ensure the long term future of a women's refuge in Weymouth.

The council-owned refuge building will now be sold to Magna Housing at less than market value while Raglan Housing with receive an ongoing annual grant of £14,000.

All this will help turn the building in to a half way house so victims of domestic violence and abuse have a place to go to when they have recovered enough to leave West Dorset Refuge but not enough to return to a normal life in the community.

The Friends of the Women's Refuge couldn't conceal their happiness when members of Weymouth and Portland's management committee gave their support and spokesman Councillor Gill Taylor said: "I am absolutely delighted.

"This decision is better than we expected and will mean so much to the victims of domestic violence and abuse in Weymouth and Portland.

"It means that the building's maintenance is assured and it can now be converted into five flats as intermediate move-on accommodation for clients from West Dorset Refuge in a service run by Raglan which also runs the West Dorset site."

West Dorset Refuge chairman Molly Rennie said the half way house site was badly needed since 44 families had asked Weymouth and Portland for help in the last year and only 11 had been able to be helped at West Dorset.

Councillor Ian Roebuck urged colleagues to back the sale and not a "tea and sympathy" option which would have sold the building and used the cash to fund services for borough victims, something he said would be "a total waste" because it would not meet clients' needs.

People taking longer to recover from such trauma needed somewhere to go, "an in-between home" said Councillor Howard Legg which would give them continuity with services and helpers they had already met.

Councillor Kate Wheller said the proposal was a nice complement to the West Dorset Refuge while Councillor Andy Blackwood said there was "clearly a perceived need" for what was being proposed.

Tower moves a step closer

COUNCILLORS have agreed to let land so a giant £3 million observation tower can be built near Weymouth Pavilion.

The project by Merlin Entertainments, which runs the Sea Life attractions and others such as the London Eye and Blackpool Tower, must still win planning consent.

Members of Weymouth and Portland management committee were told that the 53-metre (174ft) tower would take up to 50 people at a time on a spiral ascent in a cabin which would afford views of up to 25 miles from the top.

Councillor Andy Blackwood said he took on board "concerns about visual impact" but he said that against that must be matched the welcome impact on the town's tourism.

The tower would hopefully bring in new tourists who had never visited Weymouth before, he said.

He added that some people even had concerns that the world famous Red Arrows aerobatics team – due at Weymouth Carnival in five weeks time – might crash in to the tower.

Mr Blackwood replied that he had enough faith in the skills of the Red Arrows that they would be able to spot the tower and "miss" it!

Councillor Ian Roebuck said he wanted to be sure that consideration was given to any health issues arising from the moving of microwave radio equipment from the top of the ferry terminal building to the top of the Pavilion.

Councillor Kate Wheller said Merlin had a good reputation and a quality track record for such projects and she and colleagues then unanimously approved letting land for the tower.

'No' to phone mast after protests

A HOTLY opposed scheme by telecommunications giant 02 to erect a mast in Weymouth to improve mobile phone coverage has been refused.

Members of Weymouth and Portland's management committee not only voted to refuse 02 a lease for land at Spa Road but to set up a policy to deal with all applications for masts on council land.

Councillor Kevin Hodder told the meeting that the council were landlords and he hoped the committee would refuse a lease for the mast which would be near sensitive sites such as a church and school as well as being in a conservation area.

There were potential health issues, he said, adding: "We all thought asbestos was OK 50 years ago."

Councillor Pamela Nixon said she had received "a flood of calls" from people against the mast.

Radipole Primary School was nearby, she said, and there were health issues to consider.

She added: "It is like the early days of the tobacco industry. When the truth comes out it will be too late."

The meeting then voted 7-0 with one abstension to refuse permission for the land lease.

The end (of traffic chaos) is nigh!

LONG suffering drivers can see the end of a year and a half of motoring misery.

Dorset County Council has announced that King Sreet in Weymouth will re-open to two-way traffic on July 22nd.

Kings Crossroads has already gone live in the countdown to the completion of the Weymouth Transport Package junction improvements.

The Esplanade junction also went live this week and the Queen Street junction and Jubilee Retail Park junction will be switched on in the next few days.

County highways head Andy Ackerman said: "Traffic engineers will be closely monitoring Kings Crossroads and will make adjustments as necessary.

"As the other new junctions in the area are completed, we will continue to examine the whole system to ensure that the signals are working together to keep traffic flowing."

Not your average

by Harry Walton

HUNDREDS of excited schoolchildren threw themselves into everything from watersports to sandcastle building when Weymouth School Beach Festival took to the sands.

They tackled plate spinning and other circus skills, gyrated for dancing and competed at beach ball and team building as well as taking to the water for sailing and kayaking.

Elsewhere there was a chance to get to grips with African drumming or create Olympic figures.

Organiser Virginia Bailey who opened the festival said: "There were six primary schools taking part – Bincombe, Portesham, Chickerell, Beechcroft, Southill and St Johns.

"The most important thing was to ensure all the children had a great time which I think they did."

There was a spectacular start to the event when all the children used semaphore flags to spell out Olympic and paralympic values.

The festival also enjoyed a second day when Dorset special schools took part in the same activities."

A relaxed taste of the sea in Weymouth

■ EARLY MORNING DIP: Swimmers in the Weird-fish Race make the made dash across the harbour

■ PASSIONATE ABOUT FISH: Sue and Duncan Lucas on a crusade to get people to try different species and raising money for the Fishermen's Mission

EIGHTEEN brave souls dived into the water of Weymouth Harbour on Saturday morning to launch the two-day Dorset Seafood Festival.

Four minutes later all of the competitors in the Weirdfish Race were on the opposite quayside enjoying their reward of oysters and champagne.

In brilliant sunshine the whole tone of the morning was good natured and relaxed.

Visitors strolled among the fish and seafood stalls, tasting the fayre and enjoying a glass of Pimms or champagne from main sponsor Pommery.

Others lingered to watch the cookery demonstrations on the two stages by local chefs and more widely known TV personalities including Lesley Waters, Ed Baines and Shaun Rankin. Matt Cook from FishFace was first up on stage showing the crowd how to make a delicious meal from fresh scallops and line-caught seabass.

Sue and Duncan Lucas from Passionate About Fish were talking to visitors about sustainability, and trying different local fish rather than the usual cod and haddock.

There was also a display from local group Artwey of mixed media artwork with a fishy theme.

The Spirit of the Sea theme was continued in the afternoon as the Moving Tides children's carnival wound through the festival and out onto the Esplanade (see page 10 and 11).

Reduce your electricity bill and MAKE MONEY with the solar power people!

Every year for 25 years!

Save energy and make money with solar power

CORGI GREEN AWARD FINALIST 2009

DORSET'S own award winning Ace Energy are the leading suppliers of solar power. Recently they have installed solar at a number of homes within Weymouth. With the average electricity bill being around £600 yearly, installing solar on your roof can reduce that bill by up to 50% and provide home owners and landlords with a healthy profit. This is due to the Feed-In Tariff scheme which pays premium rates for power generated from solar power - Dorset households on the scheme are now earning over £850 every year. The tax free, inflation-proof payouts are designed to protect the UK from ever-rising energy prices and help lower carbon emissions. You may have noticed an increase in the amount of roofs proudly showing off their solar panels recently and according to Alan Seviour, Ace Energy's MD, solar has never been more popular.

With interest rates at an all time low investment savvy householders are looking for alternative ways to earn money and solar power offers just that.

Moving Tides procession brings

WEYMOUTH'S harbourside became a riot of bustling colour and music on Saturday as the Moving Tides procession took to the streets.

Youngsters from schools and youth groups throughout the area donned bright hand-made costumes to add a touch of carnival to the weekend's Sea Food Festival.

Starting from Brewers Quay the youngsters snaked along the harbourside to the cheers of those enjoying a sunny late afternoon in pubs at seafood stalls, and then over the town bridge to the Esplanade.

Leading the procession was Laurie Storr (pictured) wearing a hand-made and hand-painted costume 'Flying Colours,' created by designer Sue Russell, who has been funded by the Arts Council to work on the project.

"I've picked out icons from the sea - bridges, fishing ropes and pot - which are all hand-painted on silk, it's been a real labour of love," said Sue, who persuaded her neighbour, Laurie, to wear the costume.

"I needed someone who is quite strong because it can get a bit of a handful in the breeze. I used to see Laurie out running most days, so talked her into it."

The first school group in the procession came from Wyke Regis Junior School where 40 youngsters, their parents and teachers, have been working on their bird and octopus costumes for weeks, not to mention their samba music, much of it using plastic bottles.

"We have had a lot of help from students from the Bournemouth Arts Institute. It's been a fantastic project for the school and everyone is really enjoying the procession," said teacher Helen Rewse (pictured).

Fish heads, seaweed and shells featured in the colourful group from the Umoja Arts Network who will next make an appearance in the county at Swanage Carnival while local youth leader Jenny Hart in an outrageous pink costume (pictured) earned the cheers and applause from the crowd as she swirled and shimmied along the streets.

"It's been a fantastic event, everyone is really enjoying themselves," she said, as she paused for breath.

Along both sides of the harbour throughout the weekend dozens of stalls were offering produce from and around the sea as well as entertaining crowds with cookery demonstration from local chefs, amongst them Russell Brown from Dorchester's Michelin-starred Sienna Restaurant and Mat Follas from the Wild Garlic in Beaminster.

Words & photos by Trevor Bevins

Lyme's Oyster House chef Mark Hix was also taking part in the Seafood Festival, sponsoring the Dorset Young Masterchef of the Year competition. The crowds watching often got the benefits of the dishes created as well as taking part in competitions, including trying to poor six glasses of Pommery bubbly in double-quick time, finishing with all of them at the same level - a trick which the demonstrator managed with aplomb, but mystified the half-dozen members of the audience.

For choco-holics Cadbury were giving out free samples in the square while food artist Prudence Staite (pictured opposite) produced an outstanding chocolate octopus to the delight of youngsters watching her every move.

The Seafood Festival is reckoned to be the fastest growing event of its type in the UK, something which has attracted husband and wife team Duncan and Sue Lucas to Weymouth for each of the four years the event has been run. Their Passionate About Fish stall featured a display of species all of which are caught locally.

"Many people, especially youngsters, don't recognise species and have no idea how to cook them. We aim to tackle that and enourage more people to eat locally-caught fish," said Sue.

"At the end of the day it is all auctioned off and the money donated to the Fisherman's Mission charity."

Both events are part of the broader Spirit of the Sea festival which started on July 2nd and has included a number of maritime event including dinghy and keelboat racing, events to try sailing and kayaking, art shows, theatre and arts and a cross-harbour swim.

AS I SEE IT ...

Famous last words

WHILST the last words of a celebrity can be intriguing, we seldom think of lost words. These can sum up our missed opportunities and even express regrets.

When challenged with the gospel message, the Bible records that fearful Felix procrastinated until a convenient time (Acts 24:25) and King Agrippa, with all his knowledge and belief, was not easily persuaded (Acts 26:26-28).

To say "When I get time" is nothing new. The term 24/7, used to express perpetual activity, when calculated, shows we all have exactly 168 hours each week in which to choose what is important to us. The time is there, but not always the will. Even when we know what we should do, there can still be an unwillingness to commit ourselves.

There is a very old hymn called "Almost persuaded", the last line of which reads: "Almost, but lost." So far as we know, Felix never did find a convenient time and King Agrippa was not persuaded.

I suggest these lost words are famous in the sense that they sound so familiar.

However, they do not have to be our last words. We each have the ability to make the right personal choice before it is too late.

Weymouth weather watch

Weymouth weatherman Bob Poots said that more than a quarter the usual amount of rain fell on the town but total rainfall for the year was still 78mm below average.

The sun shone on all but four days, giving nearly 12 hours more sunshine than average for the month and bringing sunshine for the year so far to 112 hours above average.

Thunder was heard on Tuesday 28th while winds during June were very light with the strongest gust of 35mph coming on June 23rd.

Most temperatures were above average. Maximum was down 0.1 Centigrade at 17.9C, but minimum was up 0.5C at 11.5C, the average mean temperature was up 0.5C at 14.7C and the average sea temperature was up 0.4C at 15.1C.

Teddy Bears' picnic

WEYMOUTH'S Friends of the Nothe Gardens are planning their fifth annual teddy bears' picnic on July 17th from 1.30pm.

Families will be welcomed with a variety of attractions including games for children, live music, stalls and raffles with prizes while the art tent returns for 2011 and there will be story telling for very small children.

Quiz night

A QUIZ night will be held at St Paul's Community Centre, Abbotsbury Road, Weymouth on Saturday July 16th at 7.30pm.

Entry costs £1 per person over 10 years old and there will be a raffle and refreshments.

Pedalling from John O'Groats to Portland

PEDALLERS: Dawn Haigh and Graeme Rose saddle up for action with Dawn's dad, Mick Connolly, at Portland Bill

BIG-HEARTED cyclists from Weymouth are gearing up for ten days of pushing pedals to raise cash for an 11-year-old boy battling cancer.

Dawn Haigh, 44, and her partner Graeme Rose, 49, are training hard for their sponsored cycle ride which will see them leave John O'Groats on July 25th. Eight hundred miles and ten days later, they hope to cross the finish line at Portland Bill.

The pair, who live in Shrubbery Lane, Wyke Regis, will be accompanied by Dawn's dad, Mick Connolly, who will be driving a camper van to give them support along the route.

Mrs Haigh, who works as a fitness instructor and lifeguard at Osprey Leisure Centre, held a coffee morning in her garden earlier this month, which raised £500.

She said: "My godson has got a rare form of bone cancer, Ewing's sarcoma, and is only 11 years old. He has been very poorly since November 2010, and has now had an operation, but will keep on having to have chemotherapy until November this year.

"His mum is his full time carer, taking him back and forth from Portland to hospital, so the money we raise will be to improve his quality of life day to day and also hopefully to fund an experience of a lifetime.

"Please help us help this little boy by sponsoring us on our website at www.portlandbillbikeathon.wordpress.com. We have also got a Facebook Page - type Portland Bill Bikeathon into the search box to find us. Thank you very much."

Kings of the castle

MORE than 80 people attended Chapelhay Community Play Garden in Weymouth when it held its annual big picnic.

This year the theme was castles, knights, princesses and dragons and organiser Clare Sutton said: "I am delighted. We run these events on a shoestring and everyone just pitches in and helps turn ideas into reality."

Among attractions were making a castle from junk and cardboard, decorating cakes, making coats of arms, shields, tiaras and helmets as well as face painting and a bouncy castle.

Students sparkle at prom

STUDENTS from Year 11 at Portland's Royal Manor Arts College took to the red carpet when they held their annual prom.

They arrived in style in a variety of transport ranging from a gig rowing boat and a vintage fire engine to bales of hay on the back of a tractor.

The sun shone and the venue provided the perfect setting for a very enjoyable evening.

The event was organised by Bridget Rod and Jon Smith who is the head of Year 11.

They said: "The students looked amazing in their smart suits and stunning dresses and all had an enjoyable evening.

"A huge thank you must go to Wowz photographers, Relish Caterers and Beau Smith from the venue."

Weymouth Matters

A personal View by HARRY WALTON

Agenda provides a little light reading for councillors

YOU might struggle to guess what JRR Tolkien's The Hobbit, George Orwell's 1984 and Nevil Shute's On The Beach have in common, so I will help you.

The answer is that they are all smaller than the agenda for Weymouth and Portland's latest management committee which reached telephone directory proportions of a staggering 280 pages.

Some councillors were treated for hernias while others were too exhausted to take part in a number of debates having lugged this weighty tome up several flights of steps.

What took the biscuit was that its riveting contents included one report which had actually been printed twice!

Faced with a reading chore like that it was no wonder that, for some members, their day was less than complete when they were forced to miss the start of the meeting after being snarled up in the latest traffic queues.

Some people took forty minutes to get from Boot Hill to the council offices about 100 metres away, so one over cheerful councillor's comment "but we don't have traffic queues in Weymouth!" deservedly true a withering glance from the seething late arrival.

Good news for Weymouth's drivers

IT was bound to happen but I have found some good news for drivers.

Signs have sprung up advising about car parks and where a motorist might go to leave their car while more than 130 electronic information boards are planned for bus stops.

It is all part of Weymouth's much vaunted transport package and it has come not a moment too soon for me.

All too often in recent months I have fumed in seemingly never-ending traffic queues, yet now I have a tiny electronic ray of hope.

No more will I have to try and second guess fellow drivers about the availability of spaces or, if I'm trying to catch a bus into town, wonder how long I shall have to wait at the stop before a bus actually comes.

Now a sign will tell me which car parks are open and how many spaces there are while a single glance at the bus stop information board will immediately tell me what time the next bus is due where I'm standing.

Of course, there are a few teeny weeny wrinkles remaining to be ironed out.

Firstly it doesn't matter which parks are open or where the spaces are if you can't get to them while information about the precise time for the next bus is only worth something if the bus stands some chance of actually getting to you.

And as for the prospect of more than a 100 fresh juicy illuminated targets for vandals, well it almost doesn't bear thinking about does it. My best guess is that some of them will be in bits before the first bus ever leaves the depot!

One man's meadow is another man's grave

GRIEF is a very personal thing and it certainly doesn't pay much lip service to council budget cutbacks.

In the past cemeteries used to be regularly cut several times a year but the need to save money has seen that change.

Now there are fewer cuts or areas are actually specifically allowed to grow long as wild flower meadow-style areas which are cut once plants have flowered and dropped their seeds.

But the bottom line is not about saving money and it is not about ensuring the preservation of colourful blooms. It is about the respectful maintenance of the last resting place for thousands of people.

Weymouth does its best but it clearly falls short of what some grieving relatives expect.

One cemetery area under about a foot of grass suddenly opened up to reveal a roughly clipped grassy margin round one grave where the tender had clearly lost patience waiting for the council to come and had carried out some maintenance themselves.

It is a fine line for authority staff to tread because one person's meadow is another's person's neglect of the dead.

■ WHEN does graffiti cease being a public nuisance and become a valued attraction?

The answer would seem to be with the passage of time.

Renovation work has just started at Sandsfoot Castle in Weymouth and it will include the removal of some skinhead spray paint graffiti which has been around for far too long.

But that work will carefully leave in place other painted graffiti which has been around for even longer, the best part of a century in fact.

If you look high up one wall it is possible to see the remains of a painted devil complete with horns which is supposed to date back to the 1920s.

The castle has even older graffiti actually carved in to its walls by discerning Victorian tourists which all adds to the castle's atmosphere.

It will soon be possible to actually look through the castle windows again once an internal walkway is completed, enabling visitors to get the same sweeping view soldiers used to enjoy nearly five centuries before in the time of King Henry VIII.

For the moment, however, it is still necessary to concentrate on more modern sights such as clearing away discarded beer cans and other rubbish from the town's only scheduled ancient monument.

Not a challenge for the faint hearted

THROUGHOUT the spring and summer months View From Reporter TOM GLOVER is welcoming all challenges in his column Take on Tom.

With challenges coming in thick and fast there are now just a few spots left before the summer comes to an end. If your club, group or organisation would like to be the focus of this weekly column then get in touch as soon as possible by emailing tom@pemedia.co.uk or phone 01297 446154.

This week Tom joined the BUSTINSKIN TRIATHLON CLUB for the run section of their Middle Distance race at Portland.

NOW I don't remember much from my Sports Science degree but I do recall that running a half marathon without any training was considered a bad thing.

That was the challenge that lay before me at the weekend though, and one my self-imposed "no challenge refused" policy would not let me turn down.

The run was part of a triathlon, for those of you not familiar with that idea, it's a race that combines swimming, cycling and running.

The middle distance triathlon begins with a 1.2 mile swim, followed by a 59-mile bike ride and finishing with a 13.1 mile run.

My challenger, Matt Hawker, a regular triathlete, kindly suggested I should probably only do one of the disciplines as it was a one-off attempt. As I can't swim and my bike is still suffering from a puncture it got when I was 11, the run was really the only option.

Don't get me wrong though, my running is not much better than my swimming, it's just I can't drown on a run. The truth is I haven't run anywhere, other than to the bakery, in about two years.

It wasn't an easy course either, if there is such a thing. The 13.1 miles takes you on a scenic tour of Portland, along the coast path, down rocks and up steps, past the castle and the lighthouse before finishing with a length of the causeway for good measure.

The rocky terrain was enough to slow down even the leaders of the pack at times as they negotiated loose stones, overgrown greenery and me blocking their path.

I arrived early, three hours into the race, just as the leaders were coming into the run, and introduced myself to Mark Steen the organiser of the event. He allowed me to have my MP3 player, a luxury competitors aren't allowed, and I settled into my pacemaker, a Frank Skinner audio book.

As I made my way up the hill I was overtaken by a steady stream of runners. It's fairly depressing to see the faces of people you overtook on a bicycle in Burton Bradstock, running past you an hour later when you haven't even reached the top of Portland.

On Mark's website the run is billed as a gruelling trek through the "Devil's Backyard". Now my body, even two days later, will agree with that so I understand where he is coming from but the course itself takes in some of the best coastal scenery you're ever likely to find.

I would say the views were "breathtaking" but that could have just been the running.

As I reached the halfway point I was overtaken for the 32nd time that day by a familiar face. It was Matt Hawker, the man who had decided to take advantage of my "no challenge refused" offer.

In hindsight, it's probably a good thing that my body was too tired too push him off the cliff edge but at the time it seemed a reasonable reaction. He congratulated me on making it so far and said he'd wait for me at the end. He did, and managed to have a shower and something to eat in that time as well.

The most agonising part of the journey came at the ten mile mark when I passed the finish line but had to continue going along the causeway before turning round and coming back.

I reached a delirious stage at this point where I was simultaneously crying and laughing to myself.

I had to switch my MP3 player onto some more uptempo eighties tunes to get me through it. You know you're in a long race when you can listen to the life story of a stand-up comic and still have time for some Wham to take you through the home straight.

I finished the half marathon in three hours 30 minutes. I was pretty pleased with that time, in fact I was pretty pleased to finish full stop, but to put it into perspective the slowest runner finished in just over three hours having already done the swim and the cycle and then having got lost. Incredibly the winner, Karl Alexander, finished the whole thing in under five hours. A new course record that could probably push our View From Smart cars to the limit.

I posed for my picture with Mark to prove I'd finished and then collapsed to the floor. There was hot food on offer nearby but it was upstairs so I decided against it. Besides, I knew I'd be going home to a hero's welcome. Balloons on the door, party poppers, maybe a banner, at the very least a Sunday Roast.

I got in to find a note from my family saying they had gone out for the day and that my eldest sister had eaten my ready meal I left in the fridge.

Despite how angry this made me I collapsed on the sofa safe in the knowledge that I would shame for this in the column this week.

There is no doubt that the BustinSkin events are designed to push you to your very limits but if you're up for a challenge they don't come much tougher than this.

SOLAR SOUTHWEST: A local partnership leading to a brighter future

Nick Keeler, Solar South West

Brecknell Willis, installation nearing completion

Solar South West, based at Coombe Farm between Crewkerne and Chard, was born of collaboration between two local businessmen who have been friends for nearly 30 years. Like many, they were keen to learn more about how to do their bit for the environment, whilst saving money on the ever escalating energy costs. This led to them gaining their benchmark accreditation and creating the largest solar installation in the country, in 2011. They now want to share their expertise with community groups and individuals to show them how simple and rewarding it can be to have solar energy, both financially and morally, building a better future for the next generation.

Mark Wheaton of long standing transportation and warehouse company JB Wheaton & Sons and Nick Keeler, a technical services and financial expert for the water industry, decided to not be among those who just talk about the environment but get out there and do something about it.

Nick said: "Mark had always been a bit of a one for renewable energy and cost saving. We talked a long time ago about the use of water pressure and flow for generating electricity by inserting a propeller into water mains but didn't think the industry would go for that. Following the financial market crash in 2008 new and secure sources of investment were big on the agenda and then when the Government introduced the feed in tariff mechanism in 2010,we decided to exploit the useable roof and empty space at Wheaton's and tried out a 10 kilowatt solar photo voltaic array last June, to see what the data was like.

"As soon as it was installed we could see how well it worked, how simple it was to install and operate, and planning approval was a much easier prospect. People get emotional about wind turbines and you have to be in the right place but with PV it was better, much better. So the next thing was a shopping trip to Germany where they have been doing this for years. We became engrossed in the subject and read a lot of books and we were pretty sure what we wanted to do in developing the site at Wheaton's and at this stage involved Tim Noyes, a skilled electrical contractor who was used to working on commercial projects, hospitals and large agricultural installations for example.

"Mark is better on all the tariff stuff and how the exported energy works its way around the grid, I am basically a developer but learnt enough, with some help, to design the system overall, Tim had all the necessary electrical expertise (and more besides). David Tippett, another friend and a Civil Engineer completed the initial team and in the end building the system at Wheaton's was pretty much a straightforward construction project.

"Because Wheaton's provided the transport for Coombe Farm and they were already very environmentally aware as a large organic farm, we went into discussions with Philip Cook at the AH Warren Trust. By the beginning of November we were working on the design of a 1MW PV array at lower Coombe with Kevin Down and Richard Hooper and eventually we ended up with the contracting company we have now; Solar South West which is 50:50 owned between the partners of the JB Wheaton's site and the AH Warren Trust. The business generated a huge amount of interest and we began carrying out work for others outside of the shareholders!

"The more we got into it, the more we realised how fragmented the market here is compared to Germany and the more we looked around the local area, the more things have grown by word of mouth.

"The costs of technology are coming down so although the Government have reviewed the tariffs of the large scale schemes and begun to reduce the subsidy level, it is still very possible to make an investment in solar energy and get a good return on it. This is especially the case now at the under 50kW level; domestic and small commercial projects now have exceptional levels of return and we expect the market to expand dramatically over the next 12 months.

"The technology is very robust and developing all the time, all the same we never go for the cheapest. We do however want to be very competitive in the market and will continue to use our buying power, the partnerships we have created and the on the ground experience to give a rounded good deal to our customers. We are very keen on PV and renewable energy and have invested lots in it so it is always done with due diligence and we want a system that is good for the customer in the long term, with proper warranty.

"Solar energy generation is here to stay, it is becoming more acceptable and commonplace every day, just like computers did. We are in a unique position; it is a rare beast that allows you to be doing something for the environment and for yourself, you are future proofing energy supply for your children. With electricity costs are going up all the time, if you could produce at least 50 per cent of what you use, think what that could mean. A common myth is that solar PV needs sunlight, while it is true it generates more on blue-sky days, it is dependent on light, even on a dull day there can be a 30 per cent generation. After only ten years, some towns in Germany are now just 2 years away from running on 100% renewable energy, proving it is doable."

Roof and garage array in West Bay

Since the company set up only eight months ago, they have already worked on 20 domestic installations and are in the process of their fifth large industrial job, with Chard engineering company Brecknell Willis where there will be a 200kwp array on their new rail shop building. They are encouraging households to think of solar power as the next step in home improvement, just as conservatories were. Each installation is carefully planned to suit the individual home or business and the average sized job need only take a couple of days to fit. Issues such as listed buildings can be worked with, perhaps using a garage roof instead of the house and there are even solutions for where there was only a north facing roof available. Villages could get together and fund panels on a public building such as a school or village hall, which could then benefit everyone.

1 mWp array at Coombe Farm, Crewkerne

The team are planning open days to give everyone the opportunity to look around their large and smaller installations and discuss the possibilities. Solar South West may be a business but it is made up of community spirited people who believe passionately in what they are doing for everyone, not just to line their own pockets.

Solar South West

Based in Somerset close to the borders of Devon & Dorset, Solar South West is a partnership formed between private equity and long established local businesses, JB Wheaton of South Chard and the AH Warren Trust of Crewkerne.

In the past few months we have installed the three largest photovoltaic projects in the UK. Our buying power enables us to supply the optimum technology and components at best value to customers of any size: commercial, agricultural or domestic.

Little Fones Landscapes

With eleven years' experience and an unfaltering reputation under its belt, Little Fones has become a leading name in bespoke landscaping in Dorset. Natural progression of the business has opened the doors to a commercial clientele as well as private.

If you are a new build contractor looking to transform plain yard plots into simple yet functional gardens which will instantly increase the saleability of your properties, Little Fones can tailor-make bespoke designs to specifically suit your needs. Be it a simple canvas with a healthy lawn, patio and ready-to-use flower beds for family houses, or a stylish and low-maintenance design for properties intended for young professional couples, Little Fones can create a stunning first impression for all potential buyers.

If you are an estate agent looking to revamp a tired property, what better way to increase saleability, and indeed market value, than to restore its garden to its former glory?

Whilst commercial work is a more recent venture for Little Fones, we are already working closely with estate agent, McKinlays of Dorset, who can testify to the high quality and speedy, efficient works of our landscapers, contractors and master craftsmen.

Not only is Little Fones able to create and restore beautiful gardens, but we also offer the regular maintenance of, for example, the grounds of council, housing association and privately-rented properties. Little Fones is on hand to undertake the basic yet often time consuming works such lawn maintenance and the care of plants, trees and shrubbery. As professional and competent tree surgeons affiliated with BALI and the Guild of Master Craftsmen, we are more than qualified to undertake even the most sensitive of arboriculture.

For those developers or property agents wishing to renovate or maintain numerous plots, Little Fones is delighted to offer a contractual trade discount. If in doubt, take advantage of our free consultations and estimates. Little Fones is positive that you will not be disappointed.

Still crazy after all these years

PAUL SIMON @ Manchester Apollo
Sunday, July 3rd 2011

YOU KNOW you've made it when all you have to do receive a standing ovation is walk out on stage. But that's something Paul Simon, one of the greatest singer-songwriters of his generation, is getting used to.

After a week that began with a rather lacklustre set at Glastonbury - thanks to a throat infection - subsequently followed by a number of cancelled shows (sadly including his Dorset show in Bournemouth), you could have forgiven last Sunday's Manchester crowd for being a little wary. Not a bit of it.

And thankfully Simon was back in fine voice and delivered the goods. He opened with a dreamy 'Crazy Love, Vol II' from his biggest selling solo album, Graceland, which is celebrating its 25th anniversary.

This was the first of six tunes from the African influenced album in a setlist which focused almost exclusively on his solo career, with - somewhat surprisingly - only two numbers from his 1960s songbook of Simon & Garfunkel material.

A shame then that even with the amazing fusion of cajun, reggae, world-beat and, of course, good old fashioned pop filling the theatre, anyone that attempted to get up from their seat or - perish the thought - dance in the aisles, were leapt on by security as if they were about to rush the stage.

If the show had more of the delicate folk moments like the encore performance of 'The Sound Of Silence' - performed solo with just acoustic guitar for accompaniment - which demanded bums on seats respect, you could perhaps understand the rather draconian stance. But, as it was, 'security' did nothing but kill the atmosphere rather than make anyone feel safe.

This tour, Simon's first of the UK since 2006, is in support of new album So Beautiful Or So What. As is so often the case, it's being heralded as his "best since Graceland" and five of this new LP's songs received an outing along with a number of covers.

How strange though that Paul should choose to sing George Harrison's 'Here Comes The Sun' - on which the two duetted on Saturday Night Live back in 1976 - when so few of his own songs from that period made the cut.

And while Jimmy Cliff's 'Vietnam' segued wonderfully into Paul's very own reggae based 'Mother and Child Reunion' (itself originally recorded with Jimmy's band), his takes on Elvis' 'Mystery Train' and Chet Atkins' 'Wheels' seemed to fall by the wayside.

Even the most ardent fans of Paul's solo back catalogue must have hoped for a few more of his Sixties classics, but I guess Simon has just become bored of playing them. This is a 'solo' show after all, so why should he rehash songs he originally performed with Art Garfunkel?

Nevertheless, S&G's 'The Sound of Silence' was a true highlight - the only tune of the night that would have been in Paul's repetoire when he was plying his trade around the country's folk clubs in the mid-Sixties. You could have heard a pin drop. And it was fabulous to see Paul out front on his own, armed just with a guitar and without the musical protection of his hugely talented eight-piece band.

And the band were awesome. The lightning fast bass solo from Paul's old Graceland stalwart Bakithi Kumalo on closer 'You Can Call Me Al' was just one of many examples of the amazing proficiency of the ensemble. But it still left me wanting to see a Paul Simon concert, stripped back - one man with nothing but his voice and a guitar. Maybe some other time.

Tivo: La Resistance

ReView by Tess Bide

TEARS of laughter were running down the audience members' faces during last Saturday's performance of Logic Limited, Ltd.'s Tivo: La Resistance at Bridport's Lyric Theatre. Having come all the way from New York City, the performers certainly showed no signs of jet-lag as they wowed the audience with stunts that defied gravity and comedy that generated brilliant, genuine belly-laughter throughout the show. Billed as a top secret meeting of 'La Resistance', the audience members were ushered in and issued name tags and snacks, feeling part of the team and ready for the unexpected. The performers, Sandi Caroll, Brad Fraizer and Chris Arruda, were uproarious and bounced along with the audience's reactions and heckles with lightning-quick, witty responses. It was clear to see that the company were experts in clowning and comedy and their theatrical credits, ranging from Broadway to Cirque du Soleil, certainly explain why. At the end of the show, there wasn't a grumpy face in the crowd and the whole audience stayed to meet and have a drink with the company and eat a hot dog or two from The Lyric's kitchen.

Fancy a bedroom farce?

AFTER a stunning 'Habeas Corpus' in April, which was so well received by large audiences, Lyme Regis Dramatic Society hope to produce 'Bedroom Farce' in the last week of October. It's an excellent example of Ayckbourn at his best – a sharp observational comedy of four couples, and takes place in three bedrooms - all on stage together.

The Society are having some difficulty in finding two young(ish) actors, a male who could look under 40, and a woman who could look about 30. As with the rest of the cast, they are both good parts, and it should be a lot of fun to rehearse and perform.

If you fancy having a go, please give Fred Humphrey a call on 01297 445207 in the next week or so, as they have to be sure there is a full cast by the end of this month.

The Lyme Regis Dramatic Society rehearse about twice a week, usually Mondays and Wednesdays, from late August, but as the play is a little episodic, not everyone will be needed at every rehearsal –it's fairly flexible. The performances are from Wednesday 26th to Saturday, October 29th.

Audiences Laugh First at Bridport Arts Centre

AUDIENCES at Bridport Arts Centre will get the chance to preview stand up comedians Ray Peacock, Ed Gamble and Gareth Richards on Thursday, July 21st before they head to the Edinburgh Fringe Festival.

Gareth Richards was 2010 Edinburgh Comedy Award best newcomer nominee for a show about how to deal with the disappointment that the world is going to continue to exist. His engaging observational comedy, inspired one-liners and quirky songs played on the Omnichord, an instrument he has rescued from the 80s, have made him a favourite on the comedy circuit. He can be heard every Saturday morning from 8am on Frank Skinner's silver Sony award winning Absolute Radio Show. He was described by Steve Bennet of Chortle as "Quirkily assured writing, from silly wordplay to melancholic self-evaluation."

Ray Peacock and Ed Gamble

Ray Peacock and Ed Gamble are coming to Bridport Arts Centre with a new live show - The Proctor and Gamble Emergency Broadcast. Ed has played some of the best gigs in the country for Comedy Company and Frank Skinners Credit Crunch. As a solo stand up performer, Ray Peacock has performed on BBC3's Russell Howard's Good News. As an actor Ray's TV credits include, Doctor Who, Skins and The 11 O'clock Show (Channel 4).

Poetry for Pleasure

by Frank McGarry

TODAY, our thanks and condolences go to Pat Seabright of Bridport, who wrote this valedictary verse following the recent death of her dear husband.

MY GUY
Farewell my love
I'll miss you so
The years flew by
But you had to go.

Our love was true
And times were good
Memories are happy
Strong and bright.

God make my footsteps
Firm and light
Until we meet once more on high
Our spirits joined in our Lord's blue sky.

Luisa D'Amone wrote this when she lost her 'guy'.

THE COLD SPACE
I never wrote a poem for you
Because I didn't need to.
There were
No crashing waves or rocking world.
No avalanche or
Drowning cries for help.
No blinding flash or
Tornado sweeping my house.
No powerful electrical storm.
No looking glass offering a new world view or Promise of a new life.
Instead you were my Underground heating and Soothing summer sun.
An honest mirror.
My heart expander.
Upholder of the peace.
Smoother of my furrowed brow,
Silent bold dragon slayer,
Emerald bearer,
Chaser of the dark and a
Prince so Charming to this sleeping one
I didn't notice you come
Or quietly slip away.
Until now.
I feel suspended,
A growing ache and
The cold space
Where you once lay.

A third lady who loved and lost was Lynne Potter, who wrote this.

IF EVER
One day
I built a wall
its stones were heavy with the the tears I cried
as one by one I set them round about me shielded from the world's pitying eye containing all the storm of my despair hidden within I nursed my pain
a life-time of grieving stetching ahead.

Until one day
a ray of sunlight percolated through the wall of misery and I thought if ever heart-ache causes much less pain
if ever I wake up and do not think first of my loss
if ever I can feel the joy of laughter, not the guilt
then I could build a life within my wall.

Then
one day
escaping through the wall's chink of light
I looked up at the sun and felt the warmth
I worked and smiled and played, I gazed around and saw my life was on the outside looking in at all the sadness that was always there whenever it was needed to remember.

Botanical Art students show at Upwey Open Gardens

DELICATE | Student Jane Hall at work

KINGSTON Maurward College Botanical Art students will be showing their creative skills to the public this weekend (July 9th and 10th).

The exhibition entitled 'Unfurling', takes place at the Old School Hall, a venue often used by artists and crafts people.

Open Gardens is a great favourite as the charm of Dorset Gardens is at its horticultural best and plant and garden lovers will be inspired.

The exhibition will now include the art of the South West Society of Botanical Arts (SWSBA) Diploma students giving insight to the art of precise plant studies.

Members of the public will be able to see what the Botanical Art Students do, and talk to their tutor, Sally Pinhey, about forthcoming courses.

The exhibition is open from 11.30 to 5pm on both days.

Band's busy start to summer season

THREE engagements within a week have given the Lyme Regis Town Band a busy start to their summer season. Playing to appreciative audiences at Pecorama in Beer and Lyme's newly refurbished shelters on Marine Parade, the many weeks of practice and preparation clearly provided great enjoyment for their audiences.

Pecorama was a first for the band, playing as part of the Royal British Legion centenary celebrations and the unveiling of a plaque to mark this event. The band played a varied programme to suit all tastes, with the audience having their moment in the limelight in Eddie Grant's lively song 'Gimme Hope Joanna'. Several band members took the miniature train to the unveiling of the centenary plaque, providing impromptu music along the way!

As part of the opening celebrations of the Marine Parade shelters, the band gave a short concert on Saturday afternoon. Members were very impressed with the new facilities and Band Secretary Gilly Warr commented, 'we are delighted with the improvements which have taken place since last summer. The band would like to thank the Town Council and all who were involved in this project, which is a greatly improved setting for our summer concerts'.

On Sunday afternoon, the band played the first of their 'Music by the Sea' concerts. An enjoyable feature was the first open-air appearance of the Training Band, formed earlier this year under the guidance of band-members Nikki and Jane Herbert. Under Nikki's direction, they played three popular pieces while the band took a break, with the audience clearly appreciating their effort and skills.

'Music by the Sea' concerts continue throughout July and August each Tuesday at 8 o'clock, with additional concerts on several Sunday afternoons, starting at 2.30. During the season, thousands of holidaymakers will be enjoying the band's music and sponsorship is still available for local firms to increase their business through advertising at these concerts. Full details of events and sponsorship can be found on the band's website.

Seeing an urban landscape filled with armed robbers, corrupt cops, abused prostitutes and even a pedophile Santa, the Hobo goes about bringing justice to the city the best way he knows how - with a 20-gauge shotgun. Mayhem ensues when he tries to make things better for the future generation. Street justice will indeed prevail.

CELL 211 18

TREACLE JR 15

Tom is forty. He walks out one day, rather abruptly, on his wife and baby boy and his seemingly happy life. He finds himself living on the streets of London. One night alone in a park he is mistaken for a gay man and is set upon by a gang of violent thugs. In A&E the next day Tom meets Aidan, the happiest, fast-talking individual you are ever likely to meet, the complete opposite of Tom. Too polite, or too weak to ask him to leave him alone Tom tries to get away from this child-like man but with little joy, Aidan sticks to Tom like glue. Tom reluctantly becomes involved in Aidan's life and he quickly realises that Aidan has problems too. Aidan's 'girlfriend' Linda verbally and physically abuses him on a regular basis. Will Tom overcome his own problems in order to help his new 'friend'? Will Tom ever make it back home - and why exactly did Tom leave home in the first place?

Sing Out On Saturday with Sammy Hurden

B SHARP has many different aspects to its projects but recently singing is one of the big things, and a new workshop is being offered in Lyme Regis.

The workshop, taking place this Saturday at the Masonic Hall from 10.30am-12.30pm, will be a high-energy morning to get voices going with B Sharp music leader Sammy Hurden. Sammy will be working on songs and harmonies to liven up and explore participants voices. The workshop is for young people aged 11-16)or up to 25 as a trainee).

Sammy will be working with B Sharp and John K Miles on the Coastal Voices Commission and Hear Here Project.

B Sharp project manager Fran Williams said "we welcome all young people who would like to sing as part of a group or as soloists. We are also looking for new trainees aged between 16-25 who have an interest in instrumental and/or vocal teaching to work alongside Sammy and John."

Sammy Hurden is a songwriter and workshop leader with many years experience. Her piece "The Calling" was performed at The Albert Hall by Somerset County Youth Choir. She recently arranged and performed on P J Harveys album "Let England Shake".

Howzat for cricket club's first beer festival

North Perrott Cricket Club which is holding its first beer festival on Saturday, July 23rd

NORTH Perrott Cricket Club has come up with something special for its first beer festival that's being held at its Willis Lane ground, which has the reputation as one of the most picturesque in Somerset.

Palmers brewery in Bridport has produced a commemorative ale called 'Keg B4 Wicket' for the festival which takes place on Saturday, July 23rd from 4.00 pm to midnight. The special ale should be a big hit at the festival which will feature a choice of 24 specialist beers and eight ciders, many of which have been sponsored by local businesses and individuals. Admission price of £5 includes a souvenir glass and a free pint.

There will be live music from bands including The Beasties from London, plus a hog roast and barbecue. "Everything is being done to ensure that our first beer festival is the cricketing equivalent of hitting a six," says Derek Boles, organising committee chairman. "We are hoping to attract support from people throughout the West Country, as well as real ale enthusiasts."

At the heart of the festival is the club pavilion, opened in 2000, after a fund-raising campaign that raised £225,000 to build it, an incredible achievement for a small village with a big heart.

Somerset County Cricket Club has staged many of its 2nd X1 championship matches at North Perrott which is now the home venue for Somerset County Ladies X 1 matches.

Latest offering from Dorchester Drama Club

THE Lark, the trial of Joan of Arc, written by Jean Anouilh in 1953 and adapted by Christopher Fry, tells the story of the trial, condemnation and execution of Joan in two acts, and is set in the court at Rouen during the spring of 1431. A hugely ambitious project tackled with their usual enthusiasm and determination by the members of Dorchester Drama Club, this very demanding play tells the story of Joan of Arc in flashbacks, centering on those commissioned with presiding over her trial and eventual death by burning at the stake. Brilliantly directed by Trevor Williams, it takes the audience through the life of Joan from the voices urging her to save France to her relieving Orleans from the hands of the English, being sold to those she defeated for £10,000, standing trial at Rouen, and eventually being burned as a witch and heretic in the public square. And all this in the wonderful setting of the Roman Town House in Dorchester.

The incredibly challenging role of Joan of Arc was undertaken by Lorna Moss, a talented young actress who managed to juggle learning her lines with sitting her A-levels, and she was superb. Still with the looks of an innocent teenager she gave a belief to the part that was both naive and yet with a commitment that belied her tender years. Trevor Williams himself played Beauchamp, the Earl of Essex, cunning and devious throughout, whilst the ineffectual and somewhat hard-up Dauphin, Charles, fell to Jonny White. His dealings with the trifling matters of the French court whilst continually playing cup and ball were quite delightful. And the play was not without touches of humour. The baiting of the vain, self-opinionated Robert de Beaudricourt, a role David Lucas amply filled, by Joan herself was one of those magical moments that helped relieve the seriousness of the situation. And the magnificent Lee Stroud, this time cast as Cauchon, Bishop of Beauvais, was as impressive as ever. An overbearing character whose one aim was to make Joan recant her ways and confess her visions were no more than fantasies and her voices non-existent, Lee was both masterful and at times persuasive, but amazing throughout. And the burning of Joan at the stake, bringing the play to an end, was both clever and effective.

Every member of Dorchester Drama Club who took part in The Lark deserves heaps of praise. Battling not only a very intense play, but the weather as well, they carried on with the professionalism we now expect from their productions. The rain nessecitated a move indoors during the interval, but this was carried out efficiently and detracted in no way from the amazing sets they had created. In fact the interior of the Roman Town House added a somewhat sinister element to the court room surroundings and gave yet another touch of authenticity to the play. Well done one and all. Their next production will be Guards! Guards! by Terry Pratchett, at the Corn Exchange, Dorchester from November 10-12th 2011. So make a note in your diaries.

Early Music Group tour historic Dorset settings

The students will then move on to St Catherine's Chapel in Abbotsbury at 2pm for a half-hour performance. Those interested should note that walking uphill to the chapel is necessary and there is no seating. Admission is free.

The performances will finish at St Nicholas' Church in Abbotsbury at 4pm. This will be an hour-long concert with a retiring collection in aid of the church's roof fund.

Hemstock festival bigger and better than ever

FOLLOWING the success of Hemstock '07, the team are back, aiming to make Hemstock bigger and better on September 17th.

This festival set on private land within the stunning rolling hills and lush countryside of Dorset is about providing the very best in new, progressive music, local delicacies, comedy and literature.

Hemstock is a non-profit organisation with all proceeds raised going to support Prostate Cancer Research and Mondo Challenge (a charity which focuses on providing schools and educative grants to remote areas of India).

From midday organisers intend to cook up a musical storm on the main stage by fusing eclectic flavours from Electro Swing, Jazz, Hip-Hop, Rock n Roll, Blues, Folk, Roots and Reggae.

As well as musicians and tents there will be stand up comedy, recitals from well known poets and authors infused with scrumptious local foods and cider.

All this take us right up to the grand finale, the headline act, followed by an outstanding fireworks display over the festival site.

This year's headliners are The Correspondents - Mr Bruce and Chuckles, pictured below - who collaborate to revamp vintage sounds for the modern ear.

Resuscitating sampled relics with squelchy synths over dusty drum loops they've depicted the trials and errors of Love, Lust and Loss over a foot-tapping toe curling amalgamation of Electro, Drum 'n' Bass, Swing and Boogie Woogie.

Starting out in November 2007, old friends Mr Bruce and Chucks, returned to London after a firm schooling at their respective Universities.

In Leeds, Mr Chuckles had been tinkering with the sounds of Hip Hop, Jazz and Dance music for several years, meanwhile further north in Edinburgh Mr Bruce exerted his vocal dexterity over Drum 'n' Bass, Breaks & Funk.

The unlikely pair cut their teeth at a few parties and decided to cement the live performance relationship in their makeshift recording studio. Since then tracks have been recorded, stages have been stomped and knees have hit nipples.

After their set the party will continue, with DJs dropping some of the most cutting edge sounds around.

Camp Bestival just weeks away

...and there's still a few tickets left for the Lulworth festival

Blurring the lines between the Great British summer holiday and a fun-filled festival frolic, the multi-award winning Camp Bestival returns to Dorset's idyllic Jurassic coast in just a few weeks for the fourth annual event, set in the enchanting surrounds of Lulworth Castle, from July 28th to 31st.

Spread across the Castle Field, Kids Garden, Big Top, Bollywood, Black Dahlia, East Lulworth Literary Institute, Freestyle Sports Park and more, this year will be even more jam-packed with entertainment, from stellar musical morsels and cultural delights to mind-melting sideshow attractions and lashings of family fun, including over 100 Free Things For Kids To Do. With plush camping facilities, hot showers and picnic areas plus a world of fabulous food concessions and free entry for kids under 10, it's a unique start to the summer holidays and the ultimate family experience.

For the first time the festival is set to open on the Thursday night - a change that the organisers said was a popular request from past events. You'll need to purchase a Thursday Camping Ticket, which are on sale in addition to your normal Weekend Camping ticket from the usual outlets. More info is available on www.campbestival.net. All the campsites will be open from midday on Thursday, July 28th, with Car Parks open from 10am.

Music | Fronted by one of the world's most iconic pop stars, Blondie are the first headliners out of the bag for Camp Bestival 2011 topping the bill on Friday night. With an almost endless canon of chart storming hits including 'Rapture', 'Hanging on the Telephone', 'Heart of Glass' and 'Maria' spanning their 30 year career, Blondie will, without doubt, be the sing-a-long highlight of the weekend.

Mark Ronson headlines with The Business Intl. on Saturday

Mark Ronson and The Business Intl., who are currently riding a wave of love for the acclaimed 'Record Collection' album, which spawned the singles 'Bang Bang Bang', 'The Bike Song' and the sublime 'Somebody To Love Me', will be headlining the Saturday night. Saturday will also see a special guest performance from folk darling Laura Marling in the Big Top, sure to be an intimate and emotional set.

The festival will come to an exhilarating and euphoric end when Primal Scream headline Sunday evening, playing their psychedelic masterpiece 'Screamadelica' in full, as well as a collection of their greatest hits.

Live acts joining the incredible headliners will include the recently reformed House of Pain, ABC, The Selecter starring Pauline Black and Gaps Hendrickson, Newton Faulkner, the hotly tipped Claire Maguire, dubstep's first lady Katy B, Eliza Doolittle, the Cuban Brothers whose side-splitting soul and cheeky repartee are not to be missed, plus there'll be beatbox genius and all-round top bloke Beardyman and swing hip-hoppers The Correspondents. There will also be performances from The Wonder Stuff, Ms Dynamite, Wretch 32, Ed Sheeran, Fenech-Soler, Frankie & The Heartstrings, Brandt Brauer Frick, Lau, Lucky Elephant, The Crayonettes, Smerins Anti-Social Club, Two Wounded Birds, Caitlin Rose, Jaipur Brass Band, Kawa Circus, Bajah & the Dry Eye Crew, The Bad Shepherds, Marcus Foster, The Emerald Guard, Jellicle Cats The Widow Maker and Kathryn Williams.

Saturday main stage hosts Dick and Dom

Crazy club vibes will come courtesy of Rob da Bank with his famed beyond eclectic fare, plus the mighty Groove Armada will present Redlight, arch scratch master DJ Yoda is sure to get the show jumping and the venerable David Rodigan will demonstrate just why he's one of the most respected selectors on the planet. And there'll be more booty shaking, speaker shredding action from the likes of Jaguar Skills, London Elektricity, The Nextmen, Dub Pistols Soundsystem, Channel One Soundsystem, Krafty Kuts, A.Skillz, DJ Derek and Reggae Roast.

Comedy | Always a hit at Camp Bestival, this year's live comedy comes this year from young sensation Jack Whitehall, the human sound machine Michael Winslow (of Police Academy fame), Milton Jones, quiz show regular and early edition host Marcus Brigstocke, Camp Bestival regular Craig Campbell, and many more.

Jack Whitehall heads the comedy billing

Kids entertainment | Everyone's favourite kids double act Dick and Dom will be making a special appearance to host the Main Stage on Saturday during the day time.

Among the kids entertainment is a festival exclusive appearance from the stars of Shrek The Musical; a return of The Gruffalo, a popular attraction last year; The Sooty Show in a UK Festival exclusive, featuring Soo and Sweep; and also joining the throng will be Panzee, Tang, Zak and Drum AKA the ZingZillas. The band will be monkeying around mixing up rock and soul, jazz and samba and could even drop in some big band sounds!

Other entertainment | Hugh Fearnley-Whittingstall's River Cottage Café will be returning to Lulworth Castle and Rock 'n' roll chef, Gizzi Erskine, will also be joining Camp Bestival this year to help feed the thousands with some of her delicious recipes.

The English National Ballet, one of the world's leading ballet companies, is coming back to Camp Bestival for a third year with a host of expert ballet workshops in the ballet tent. There will be something for children of all ages; family sessions for tots, introductions for complete beginners and workshops for improvers! There will also be some other treats in store in this tent over the weekend, including Ballet Pilates to de-stress and revive your weary festival bones and creative workshops so that you too can look like a proper ballerina. In between the workshops, you will have the chance to sit back and relax and watch screenings of The English National Ballet's very best shows or try on ballet costumes in dressing-up corner.

This year the fancy dress theme is all things Medieval. There'll be the traditional Fancy Dress Parade for everybody on Saturday in the Kids Garden, the Camp Bestival resident dressing up box will be stacked full of vintage princess dresses, hand-made costumes for all sizes, and next to the dressing up tent is the Camp Bestival catwalk where the little ones can parade and dance up and down to music all day.

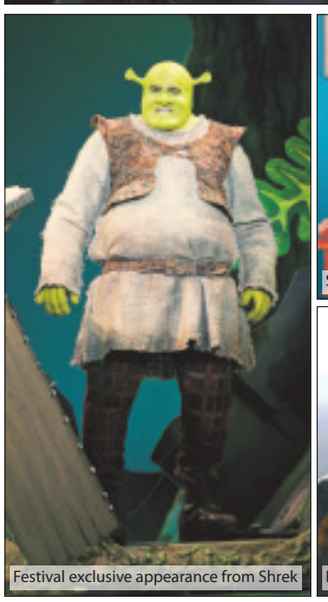

There will be a variety of erudite pleasures on offer all weekend including the Satin Lizard Lounge Spoken Word line up curated by Scroobius Pip and hosted by absurdly talented Sound of Rum frontwoman Kate Tempest. Plus there'll be Opera Up Close, Gideon Reeling Theatre, Heritage Arts Company and lots and lots more effortlessly enjoyable diversions to while away your fest-holiday.

THE CORNER GARAGE

MELPLASH 01308 488238

All makes serviced

VAG Specialists - including Seat, Skoda, Audi & VW

CHRIS David, owner of The Corner Garage, is part of a third generation family owned business which is serving its incredible 75th year, which makes it one of the oldest garages around.

At the Corner garage they believe in doing things the old fashioned way repairing vehicles rather than replacing them - of course where possible! and in particular specialise in the VAG range (VW, Audi, Seat and Skoda), which are small engine and low insurance cars that you will be able to see a selection of on their forecourt.

Not just a garage, they are also the only garage between Bridport and Crewkerne that serves petrol and also one of very few that actually serves you.

With three staff on board they are greatly experienced in repairing old vehicles and spend a lot of their time on rally and race preparation.

Situated opposite the Half Moon pub in Melplash the garage gets a lot of local, reliable trade who use the garage time and time again and have produced many testimonials which you will be able to see on the good garage scheme website of which the Corner Garage are members.

So sure of doing their work the right way they hand out to every customer an Industry standard service form which highlights all work carried out, a good garage scheme survey form for your opinions and because they are a female friendly garage they always tell the client what is wrong and even draw pictures to describe the fault fully.

So if you have a problem with your car, need some petrol or looking to buy a car pop in and see the Corner Garage or call Chris and the team on 01308 488238.

Zero emissions: It's an idea worth spreading

SOME of the world's greatest minds will be able to test-drive the latest in zero-emission technology when the Renault-Nissan Alliance takes part in a global conference of artists, scientists, economists, philosophers and activists this week in Edinburgh

The Renault-Nissan Alliance is the automotive partner of the annual TEDGlobal conference, an event which aims to answer questions such as 'How can life be better lived?'

The 2011 TEDGlobal is held July 11th-15th, and a highlight for nearly 1,000 participants will be driving Renault and Nissan's zero-emission vehicles at the show and on the surrounding streets of Edinburgh.

TED started in 1984 as a conference bringing together people from three worlds: Technology, Entertainment and Design.

A non-profit organisation devoted to "Ideas Worth Spreading," TED conferences have become must-attend events for "early adopters" in worldwide industry and academia – including advocates of sustainability.

The Renault-Nissan Alliance is the global leader in sustainable transportation and the only car group launching a range of affordable EVs for mainstream consumers around the world.

The first, the Nissan LEAF, is a mainstream, affordable zero-emission car that consumes no oil whatsoever and can be charged by nearly any energy source – from conventional electricity to home solar panels or other forms of renewable energy.

In addition to Nissan LEAF - European and World Car of the Year 2011 – TEDGlobal will also feature stylish, fun electric vehicles from Renault – Twizy and Fluence Z.E. (for *Zero Emission).

Both Renault Twizy and Nissan LEAF will be on display at Edinburgh's International Conference Centre. In order to allow conference delegates to experience the future of urban motoring first hand, Renault Fluence Z.E and Nissan LEAF will be available for short test drives on the streets of Edinburgh.

Nissan has already delivered more than 9,500 Nissan LEAFs in Japan, the US and Europe since sales began late last year. European sales are underway in Portugal, the Republic of Ireland, the UK and the Netherlands while order books have opened in Switzerland, France, Spain and Belgium with the first customers in those markets expected to start receiving their cars soon.

A roomy family hatchback that seats five adults comfortably, Nissan LEAF is powered by an in-house developed compact electric motor and inverter in the front of the car which drives the front wheels. The AC motor develops 80 kW of power and 280 Nm of torque, enough for a maximum speed of 145 km/h.

Nissan LEAF has a range between charges of up to 175 km, as tested over the New European Driving Cycle (NEDC).

The zero-emission vehicle comes fully equipped with features such as air conditioning, satellite navigation, rear-view parking camera, quick charge socket and innovative smart-phone connectivity.

Renault EVs debut in Europe later this year. Renault Twizy is an innovative two-seat commuter car with eye-catching styling.

Affordable, practical and safe, Twizy is easy to drive and even easier to park. It is the environmentally responsible choice for the inner city.

Twizy features a 15kW AC motor and has a top speed of 80 km/h and a range of 100 km (NEDC).

Renault Fluence Z.E is a full electric five-seat saloon. Thanks to its innovative patented floor design that allows a fully automated battery pack swap to be undertaken in under five minutes, a Fluence recently won a 300 km Inter City Challenge – part of the influential 2011 Challenge Bibendum rally – beating conventionally powered cars as well as other EVs.

HOW TO REDUCE THE COST OF MOTORING

THE cost of fuel is ever increasing and burdens everyone who depends on their vehicle for getting about. Vehicle maintenance is also an expensive butnecessary evil.

Long journeys can be high on fatigue and stressful.

You also may be concerned about pollution – greenhouse gases as well as noise – global warming and the world we leave to our children and grandchildren. You can now do something wRIGHT DRIVING is offering a half day course for drivers who want to address all or some of these issues.

The course is designed for two people, maybe friends or relatives, but you may be teamed up with another individual.

The course will assess your current style of driving then a brief presentation and demonstration drive will show you how to reduce those motoring costs.

There is then an opportunity to practice with full tuition from your trainer.

Then it's up to you. In the weeks and months that follow you will, if you practice the techniques:

- Save between 5% and 17% of your fuel bill (Driving Standards Agency figures)
- If you drive 15000 miles per year, with present fuel costs, you could recover the course cost as soon as 5 weeks on fuel alone.
- Reduce wear and tear on your vehicle.

Each candidate will be issued with an EcoDriving Guide to refer to in the future.

Driving trainer Haydn Wright said: "Eco-driving is the way ahead.

"With a little training and practice to modify your driving techniques you can make an amazing difference to your fuel bills, vehicle maintenance costs and pollution emissions with minimal difference in your journey times.

"The course is ideal for both business and private drivers and would make an ideal gift for a friend or relative.

"The course pays for itself within a few weeks but that will depend on the drivers average mileage."

For further information contact wRIGHT DRIVING on 0800 4320206.

HOWZAT! - The West Dorset cricket scene WITH STUART BROOM

Dorchester put to the sword by youngster

Dorset Funeral Plan League
Premier League

DORCHESTER 94 ALL OUT
LOST TO POOLE TOWN 370-9 BY 276 RUNS

DORCHESTER were crushed by title contenders Poole Town at the Rec on Saturday, going down to a massive 276 run defeat.

Captain Martyn Richards made three changes from last week's side in an effort to improve his team's faltering season but that was all to no avail as Poole amassed a formidable 370-9 on a good track in their 50 overs thanks mainly to a quick-fire century from Ben Rogers who was dropped when he had scored just 10.

Dorchester were to rue that miss as the 16-year-old opener went on to score 120 in double quick time, his century coming off just 50 balls.

Despite Rogers looking edgy in the early part of his innings, he and Masoor Khan (31) put on 144 for the first wicket, and with good contributions from Martin Miller (37), Alam (28), Ciaran Quinn (29) and Steve Wilson (44 not out) the visitors put the county town bowling and fielding to the sword. None of the bowlers escaped punishment with Andy Mead (2-58) and Dan Belt (2-65) the pick of the bunch.

With the daunting task ahead, none of the Dorchester side were able to cope, as Quinn made the most of a demoralised batting display claiming 5-17 from his seven overs.

Only Rob Waite (13), Belt (15), Richards (14) and Chris Backhouse (12) got into double figures as the hosts capitulated to 94 all out in just 18.5 overs.

Richards said: "It was a horrendous afternoon in which we were left to rue an expensive missed opportunity, and where none of our batsmen focused and applied themselves.

"All in all it was a day to reflect on some lacklustre fielding, undisciplined bowling but moreover an exceptional performance from a young cricketer who I hope not to face again too many times in the future!"

WEYMOUTH 177 ALL OUT BEAT
BLANDFORD 111 ALL OUT BY 66 RUNS

AT 90-7 Weymouth's chances of victory looked slim particularly with skipper Paul Payne sidelined having torn a side muscle, but an eighth wicket stand of 86 by Faraz Ulhaq (53) and Cube Whyte (37) saw the Seasiders reach the respectable total of 177 all out to give themselves a fighting chance of victory.

Payne who was on 28 when he had to retire, was the only bright spot in another dismal batting display, but Ulhaq and Whyte eventually gave Weymouth something to defend.

Fortunately the home bowlers were in good form. Michael Pearce (3-26) and Matt Lawes (0-20) put the Blandford batsmen under the cosh from the start and with Ulhaq (3-22) and Whyte (3-29) also showing with the ball they reduced the visitors to 64-8, and despite a battling 35 not out by Aaron Day they were finally dismissed for 111 all out.

Division One

CORFE MULLEN 98-2 BEAT
WEYMOUTH 2ND 95 ALL OUT BY EIGHT WICKETS

IN a remarkable collapse Weymouth 2nds, who had looked to be cruising along at 84-2, lost eight wickets for just 11 runs leaving Simon Browne, batting at five on five not out.

The hosts knocked off the target with eight wickets to spare.

Division Two

BERE REGIS 130 ALL OUT BEAT BEAMINSTER 58 ALL OUT BY 72 RUNS

AFTER an encouraging win last week, Beaminster slumped to defeat at Bere Regis following another dismal batting display.

Having won the toss Bere Regis openers struggled on a slow and low surface, with Ross Baker applying pressure in a good opening nine over spell.

However it was Simon Jones (3-27) at first change that made the breakthrough, removing both openers before having Tatchell well caught by Richard Runyard. Adam Herring (3-33) then took a wicket with his first ball to leave the hosts 53-4.

Beaminster's fielding was tight with Fred Everitt, Herring as well as Runyard taking smart catches as Bere laboured to 74-6. However the tailenders particularly Hewitt (23) hit and although Baker (2-34) returned to claim two wickets and Mark Barber (2-14) added further scalps Bere Regis posted a score of 130 all out.

In reply, Beaminster lost Runyard in the first over, and although Fred Everitt (14) played some lovely strokes, batting was difficult for all of the batsmen.

Bere Regis fielded well and applied pressure with aggressive field placings, they clearly knew their own wicket. Everitt and David (7) took the score to 31 before spinner Macklin came into the attack, and along with Davis (4-25 from 12 overs) they scythed through the Beaminster card. Macklin took 5-8 from eight overs as Beaminster lost nine wickets for just 27 runs with six ducks and only Colin Lloyd (11) managing double figures.

POOLE TOWN 2ND 247-7 BEAT
DORCHESTER 2ND 99 ALL OUT BY 148 RUNS

DORCHESTER 2nds crashed to their fourth defeat in a row after looking title contenders early in the season, and have now plummeted to third from bottom after a heavy defeat at midtable Poole Town 2nd's.

Division Three

BRIDPORT 107 ALL OUT LOST TO CATTISTOCK 206-3 BY 99 RUNS

THIS was almost the father and son show as Buddy Langford ripped through the Bridport batting to claim 6-12 off 11.4 overs after his son Martin had carried his bat for 61 not out to help steer the visitors to victory.

Cattistock found the going tough to start against the opening bowling of Dom Gape and Ed Halson and lost Dave Baggs (2) to Halson (1-32) with the score on 13-1. Batting continued to be difficult as the visitors crawled to 65-2 at drinks off 22 overs but the arrival of James England following the dismissal of Joe Baggs (30) with the score 97-3 saw an acceleration and with Langford playing the anchor role, the two added an unbeaten 109 in 14 overs for the fourth wicket with England 63 not out.

Bridport made the worst start possible when Liam Toohill was bowled fourth ball by Lee Anderson. Worse was to follow when the returning Dave Herbert dragged a ball from Bradley Damen onto his stumps. Anderson then bowled Sam Challis (15) to leave Bridport 25-3.

Skipper Mark Smith (15) joined Sam Good and at drinks things looked very tight with the scores the same except Bridport had lost a wicket more. However the introduction of Buddy Langford saw the capitulation of Bridport.

Smith was stumped with the score on 77 and Langford and after Richard Fagence removed Good (34) Langford went on to claim the final five wickets as Bridport were dismissed for 107 all out.

Cattistock secretary Richard Langford said: "It looked very tight with a close finish anticipated at drinks with a strong Bridport batting line-up to come, but Buddy destroyed them just bowling line and length."

Smith said: "I was very confident with the side we had this week, but we got behind the run rate and tried forcing the pace but with Buddy bowling such a good line and length we lost the plot.

"I think it's a confidence issue at the moment. We bowled really tightly at the beginning and perhaps didn't have the best of luck, but we lack patience with both the bat and ball at the moment. We need to take our time and not get anxious."

MARTINSTOWN 70-5 BEAT
CERNE VALLEY 69 ALL OUT BY FIVE WICKETS

MARTINSTOWN won this low scoring match that keeps them in second place but sees Cerne Valley drop to fourth place as a result.

Liam Banfield was the star with 6-21 from eleven overs as the visitors were skittled for just 69 all out. Stuart Fry (2-5 from six overs) opened the floodgates by trapping both openers before Banfield struck, with only Andrew Mercer (17) and Chris Holman (10) getting into double figures. Matt Rimmer (2-26) was the other bowler to claim wickets in a mean display by the home bowlers.

It was fortunate that Ed Nichols was in form for Martinstown in reply as Ed Ford (4-24) looked like he could spring a surprise. However the opener produced a match winning display with 39 not out including six 4s as the hosts passed their target in 28.5 overs.

Club captain Nick Quintrell, sidelined with a broken thumb for the rest iof the season said: "This was a pleasing performance from Martinstown especially in light of last week's disappointing reversal to Shillingstone where we lacked penetration in our bowling for the first time this season - taking two wickets defending almost 180 was worrying. This week though our bowlers found their bite again and made Cerne struggle from ball one.

"Stu Fry ran in with the rhythm that foot and back injuries have robbed him of in recent times. His pace and direction were right on the button as the figures suggest. Danny swung the new ball and the pair complimented each other well.

"Runs were hard to come by as the score shows and I was impressed with the way the boys kept up the pressure on each batsman, denying easy runs and allowing the pressure then to come from the need to score runs.

"It was a fantastic bowling performance with Liam's 6-21 as much to do with the pressure built by the field and the bowling unit.

"Our response wasn't without cause for alarm, but Ed kept calm and scored a measured unbeaten 39 that saw us home."

Division Four

BEAMINSTER 2ND 177-9 LOST
TO BROADSTONE 3RD 178-2 BY EIGHT WICKETS

BEAMINSTER batted first on a wicket that was pretty green after a wet week and made slow progress against some good bowling.

Despite losing wickets at regular intervals eight Beaminster batsmen reached double figures with Joe Singleton (20), Hugh Rathbone (17) and Dave Hall (17) being the pick.

However Beaminster were struggling at 128-9 in the 37th over until an unbroken last wicket partnership of 49 between Fred Etherington (40 not out) and Stu Lindsay (4 not out) saw Beaminster though to 177-9 after 45 overs, the highest score they have made this season.

Lindsay (1-25) made an early breakthrough to leave Broadstone 13-1 after 6 overs, but a second wicket stand of 150 between Seymour (85 not out) and Rogers (53), both players with lots of first team experience, took Broadstone to the brink of victory before Dave Penman (1-9) grabbed a consolation wicket right at the death.

This was a more encouraging performance from Beaminster 2nds who are playing two divisions higher than they should be after the league was reshuffled in the last two seasons, and the signs are that when they get to their right level they will be much more competitive.

POOLE TOWN 3RD 162-2 BEAT
WEYMOUTH 3RD 161-9 BY EIGHT WICKETS

WEYMOUTH travelled to Poole with a depleted side but still gave a reasonable account of themselves.

They found batting difficult against a good bowling attack but with Ryan Monk leading the charge with an excellent 41, and well supported by Luke Carrington (25) and captain Craig Johnson (20) they posted a score of 161-9.

Monks (2-33 from 7 overs) reduced the visitors to 34-2 before D Quinn and R Cotton helped themselves to half centuries as they shared an unbeaten third wicket stand of 128 for an eight wicket victory.

Johnson said: "We didn't score quick enough and were about 50 short of what we should have got. Having said that Poole knocked off the runs with plenty of overs to spare."

Division Five

DORCHESTER 3RD 158-5 BEAT
FERNDOWN WAYFARERS 3RDS 157 ALL OUT BY FIVE WICKETS

THE spin twins of Callum Tucker (4-29) and Sam Roles (4-40) spun Dorchester to a five wicket victory in a tense encounter, both players picking up four wickets each.

Ferndown won the toss and started brightly with their50coming up in only 10 overs. With 80 runs on the board the Ferndown batsmen looked well set for a big score until an inspired over from Karl Malone (2-29) removed both openers. Unfortunately in bowling the Ferndown captain Rob Bowering, the ball rebounded off the stumps and hit wicketkeeper Cameron Lucas in the face resulting in a trip to the hospital for a broken nose.

The introduction of spin was the telling part of the Ferndown innings, the right arm and left arm spin combination of Roles and Tucker bamboozling the batsmen as they collapsed from 80-2 to 157 all out.

The Dorchester reply started badly when opener Nick Roe was brilliantly caught by a diving Casson with the score on 7-1. Fellow opener Miller (19) was then adjudged leg before wicket leaving Dorchester 37-2.

However, the momentum of the game leaned towards Dorchester as the major innings between George Thomas (45) and Rhys Cole (40) began to develop.

Thomas played the cautious role rotating the strike whereas Cole produced some lusty straight driving both complimenting each other.

Their partnership of 82 was broken by the introduction of Dave Stone (3-26) who removed both of them in his second over and then had Quinten, well caught by Clarke.

The game was in the balance at 128-5 but the return of Lucas from hospital spurred on Roles (20 not out) and Dominic Royle (16 not out) who steered Dorchester to a hard fought victory with a 30 run partnership.

Captain Pete Tucker said: "I was very proud of Sam and Callum who bowled with such control and variation. Their input into the game changed the momentum towards a Dorchester win. Slow bowling is an art and many people think they can do this.

The returning university graduate George Thomas and Rhys Cole showed their true qualities with two outstanding innings to take Dorchester to victory".

Division Six

PARLEY 3RD 104 ALL OUT
LOST TO ABBOTSBURY 214-9 BY 110 RUNS

ABBOTSBURY got back on the winning track with an excellent all-round team performance at King's Park, Bournemouth.

■ SPIN TWINS: Callum Tucker (left) and Sam Roles who spun Dorchester 3rds to a five wicket victory.

Winning the toss and batting first, The Swans soon lost Nick Wardlaw but some good consolidation by skipper Simon Pengelly (13) and Robin Potter (13) was ably followed up by Chas Duerdoth (66) and Chai Sanapala (35) with Frank Pittman (22) and debutant Alec Duncan (18) contributing some useful boundaries at the end to enable Abbotsbury to pass 200 for the second week in succession.

There was to be no repeat of last week's agonies, however, as the Abbotsbury bowlers steadily worked through the home batsmen.

Chas Duerdoth (4-38) was the pick with Grafton Straker picking up another two wickets and Nick Wardlaw (3-20) making up for a rare batting failure. Club secretary and wicket-keeper Mick Lydford commented: "The variation in Duerdoth's bowling caused problems throughout".

BLANDFORD 3RD 133 ALL OUT
LOST TO BRIDPORT 2ND 137-3 BY SEVEN WICKETS

BRIDPORT 3rds coasted home to a seven wicket victory after Rob Condliffe and Rod Gay dismissed the last six Blandford batsmen for just 36 runs.

Batting first Blandford seemed well in control at 97-4 but Condliffe (4-22) and Gay (3-10 from six overs) soon changed the game Bridport's way.

In reply the same two put on 40 for the first wicket before they were both dismissed for 20 with a short space of time, and although Duane Gay went cheaply, Toby Hall with a fine unbeaten half-century (58 not out) and Tom Melandino (21 not out) ensured a Bridport victory.

Division Eight

STURMINSTER & HINTON 2ND 138-5 LOST TO
MARTINSTOWN 2ND 140-6 BY FOUR WICKETS.

A SPLENDID 92 not out from A.Comell formed the backbone of Sturminster & Hinton's innings as he and Ollie Curtis (20 not out) managed to set Martinstown a target of 139 to win after the home side had been struggling after losing five early wickets.

Chris Monteith (2-34) was the most successful bowler although Ben Wood was the meanest with 1-15 from 12 overs.

Paul Milverton (20) and Wood (15) got Martinstown off to a steady start but after Gary Thorne (3-28) caused a middle order collapse, it needed a solid sixth wicket stand between Steven Masters (29) and Stuart Dawson (33 not out) to steady the ship and set up the win.

Sunday Division Four

WINTON 2ND 179 ALL OUT
LOST TO SYMENE 181-8 BY TWO WICKETS

SYMENE continued their winning ways, although they made it harder for themselves than they should by dropping a couple of catches.

One short, Winton dragged a former player from the bar to make up the numbers and he and the normal opener put on 50 for the last wicket after Colin Willcox (3-45), Ed Halson (3-29) and Liam Toohill (2-38) had reduced Winton to 129-8.

Liam Toohill (49) and Sam Challis (52) put together a good fourth wicket stand to put Symene in the driving seat in reply, before Keith Readings struck five huge 6s in his 38 to give the visitors the points.

CHARLTON DOWN 211-8 BEAT PARLEY 2ND 131 ALL OUT BY 80 RUNS

AFTER a humbling defeat at Symene last week, Charlton Down bounced back with a solid victory over Parley 2nds.

Batting first they started slowly but Ian Doyle (18) and Steve Marsh (10) saw off the impressive opening bowlers before John Butterworth bludgeoned a quick 60 to move the rate on, ably assisted by Nick Roe (26).

The visitors then took all the pace off the ball and after a mini collapse Mark Homewood (25) and Matt Lowther (17) both remained unbeaten at the end to push the score up to 211-8.

The bowling effort of Charlton Down couldn't have been better. Missing a few regulars, Rich Fagence (12-6-11-1) and Mark Homewood (12-2-43-3) saw off the visiting top order whilst restricting the scoring.

Steve Marsh (1-11 off 5 overs) and Ian Doyle (2-18 off 8) then forced Parley to fall behind the run rate and regularly lose wickets, including two poor run outs, as they tried to force the pace before Rudo Wormgoor bagged the last two wickets leaving the visitors 131 all out.

Readers Mid-Wessex League Division One

WESTLANDS 81 ALL OUT LOST TO BROADWINDSOR 172-4 BY 91 RUNS

BROADWINDSOR had a comfortable win over Westlands with another good display with both bat and ball.

Put into bat, Broadwindsor made 172-4 from their 45 overs with Steve Phillips top scoring with an excellent 55. He was well supported by Joe Hawkins (37) and Ross Baker (29).

Once Broadwindsor had removed Ben Ford who scored 40, half his side's total, Baker 4-28, Ade Phillips 2-9 and Jack Walkett with an amazing 3-1 from two overs scuttled Westlands for just 81 all out.

Skipper Ade Phillips said: "We bowled and fielded well again and took some good catches."

LYME REGIS BOWLS WITH PAUL MOFFITT

Sherborne bogey laid to rest

IT'S been a good week for the ladies and the men's 'B' team, both picking up eight points each, but the fortunes of the championship side, and the 'A' team in particular, are causing concern.

With three ends to go, the championship side were in with a chance of eight points, but a disastrous last three ends from Paul Pomeroy's rink and an unlucky last end from Paul Moffitt's rink reduced the haul to just two points.

The ladies will be particularly pleased with their eight points, taken as they were from Sherborne on their own 'turf'.

Sherborne have so often proved to be the bogey team for the ladies, so this result is particularly pleasing.

The club won both their friendlies. A particularly pleasant day out was enjoyed when the Club made it's annual pilgrimage to Teignmouth by coach.

It didn't start too well when the coach company sent a 24 seater for 32 passengers.

Hasty rearrangements were made and we all arrived in plenty of time to enjoy lunch, and for a few, a little shopping!

Once again we were serenaded on the way home by Roy Edwards with his accordian.

Results:
Dorset Ladies Division One.
Lyme 8 points; Sherborne 2.
I don't have individual scores, but the winning rinks were skipped by Chris Barber and Sue Rowe.

Sailing academy host Blind Week sailors

THE Weymouth and Portland National Sailing Academy (WPNSA) last week hosted a fleet of yachts sailing with visually impaired (VI) and blind crews on board as part of Blind Week which is now associated with the charity, 'Sailing Opportunities for Disabled People'.

John Tweed, Chief Executive of the WPNSA is delighted to have hosted these sailors. "Blind Week is an excellent initiative dating back to 1975 and we are proud to be hosting the week this year at the academy. A large part of our venue development is focussed on access for people with disabilities, and it is inspiring to see visually impaired and blind sailors enjoying these top rate facilities. The event has spawned many of the UK's world class racing sailors, with GBR regularly taking home gold, silver and bronze medals in the World Blind Sailing Championship and it is exciting to think that some of these visually impaired sailors could also make the 2012 Paralympic Squad.

"The week offers a great opportunity for visually impaired individuals and gives them the opportunity to take their first steps offshore and get a taste of the thrills off sailing. The event is available to all and experience is not a requirement, the idea of the event is for participants to gain experience from the skippers and other crew members. Many of the skippers involved in the event are seasoned pros; two of them at this recent event have racked up 52 blind weeks between them."

The boats are provided with a talking compass and some have voice synthesised instrumentation. The teams consist of two VI sailors and one or two other crew members as well as the skipper. The cruising ranges from day sailing to cruises as far as France, the Isles of Scilly and the Channel Islands.

The WPNSA is becoming a regular location for similar events with the IFDS World Championships having taken place last week. This is followed by the Test Games during August and will ultimately be the venue for the sailing competition at the London 2012 Paralympic Games.

Please note that Blind Week was initiated by, and run under the auspices of, the RYA Seamanship Foundation from 1976 (which was renamed RYA Sailability in 1995) who handed the organisation on to Sailing Opportunities for Disabled People in 2000.

Cricket candles

UPLYME & Lyme Regis Cricket Club are organising a special King George Candles event in partnership with 'Candles on the Cobb', the Lyme Regis-based charity which raises money for youth and other local causes.

The event scheduled for Sunday, September 4th will be a 40 over cricket game starting at 1pm followed, at 8pm, by the lighting of over 2000 candles around the cricket ground.

The Candle on the Cobb Committee has agreed that the candles will be "sold" on behalf of the Sam Nunn appeal.

Sam is an Uplyme youngster, who has been fighting a rare form of cancer for three years. The money raised will go towards payment for a six month course of treatment in a German clinic, the only place where this treatment is available. People are encouraged to buy a candle "to remember somebody".

Candle Certificates are currently available for sale at: Along Came Polly, Nags Head, Paul's Barber Shop, Rock Point Inn, Talbot Arms, Travis-Perkins, Town Mill Cheesemonger and Uplyme Village Stores.

SCHOOL SPORTS

Ryan has last laugh as he sweeps the board

■ HARD WORKER: Holly Butt receives the Sporting Achievement Outside of School trophy from governor Peter Smith

RYAN Huish picked up three awards in his last Sports Presentation Evening at The Sir John Colfox School held last week.

There was a wry smile on the sixth former's face as he received the third and most cherished award of Sports Person of the Year, as he has ambitions to become a stand-up comic and will be hoping to bring smiles to his audiences faces after studying a degree in comedy at Southampton University starting in the autumn.

He will leave with accolades ringing in his ears as his tutors and Headteacher Kay Taylor spoke of both his sporting and social achievements in school, as he also picked up the Sixth Form Sportsperson of the Year as well as the Overall Sports Leader award.

Head of PE Nathan Gosling, who only joined the school last autumn said he was amazed at the high standards that so many athletes had achieved over such a range of activities, whilst Mrs Taylor in welcoming pupils, parents, governors and sponsors to the event, had said how the success raised morale within the school.

Success was not only on the field of play but also through Young Leader Awards and through dance where the school won four prestigious awards and were second overall in the Southern Regional heat of the national Rock Challenge competition.

This year's Coach of the Year Award went to Shirley Parker of West Dorset Fencing Club who, since introducing the sport to the school said it has become very popular.

Winners: Year 7: Sportsman – James Noonan; Sportswoman – Charlotte Johnson; Year 8: Sportsman – Lewis Middleton; Sportswoman – Imogen Slade; Year 9: Sportsman – Rhys Kirkpatrick; Sportswoman – Harriet Hughes; Year 10: Sportsman – Matt Fry; Sportswoman – Wendy Robertshaw; Year 11: Sportsman - Olly Bowen-Ashwin; Sportswoman – Danni Donovan; sixth form: Sportsperson – Ryan Huish; Coach of the Year: Shirley Parker (Fencing); Sporting Achievement Outside School: Holly Butt; Team: Inter Girls Athletics Squad; Fair Play: Amy Van Zyl; Overall Young Leader: Ryan Huish; Sports Person: Ryan Huish.

BOB BUCKLER RACING

WITH STUART BROOM

Mister Matt keeps good run going

MISTER Matt ensured that the bad luck that befell Bob Buckler's yard 24 hours earlier did not have any lingering effect by winning the bet365 Handicap Chase over two miles at Utoxetter to keep the stables good form running.

Having made such a good start to the season with only one of his 13 previous runners this season having not been placed, stable jockey Nathan Sweeney broke his leg when he was unseated on Ethiopia the night before at Newton Abbot in the same race as Cullahill who was disappointing and found the race one too many in a long hard campaign.

Tiger Breeze then failed to impress in the bet365 Conditional Jockeys' Novices' Hurdle earlier on the same card, but AP McCoy, a more than capable replacement for Sweeney, had no problem in steering Mister Matt the 11/4 second favourite home by three lengths from Wherrimon after the favourite Mr Bond had broken down and pulled up four fences from home.

Always in the mix, the eight-year-old gained his maiden victory after ten top three finishes in his previous 19 races. It looked a race between the top two favourites as they came to the end of the back straight but the favourite broke down on the approach to the fourth last and pulled up on landing, and although Wherrimon put in a concerted effort to catch McCoy's charge, they extended their lead after the last to win comfortably.

Buckler said: "Both horse and jockey did a very good job. He jumped well and never looked in any real danger of losing, and has received a 5lb penalty from the handicapper for his win."

Commenting on Tiger Breeze, the trainer added: "He was disappointing.

"He got really worked up down at the start and sweated up and was much too keen. We will give him another race in a handicapper and make a decision from there."

Coombe's 40 lands top spot

IN a week when changeable weather caused significant disruption to the week's programme or when fresh to gale force winds provided challenging conditions writes Steve Percival.

It was pleasing that three of the regular events were completed without interruption.

Midweek Stableford

THE midweek stableford saw the usual relatively small group of regular participants take to the course in relatively benign weather conditions.

Whether it was a reflection of the course and weather conditions or a sign of the benefits gained through recent excellent conditions the scores carded were outstanding to say the least.

First place was achieved by Rob Coombe (13) with an exceptional 40 points. Two two scratch handicap players, Scott Love and Ed Lawrence wereclose behind with 38 and 34 points respectively.

Junior Medal

ON Sunday, July 9th it was the turn of the Junior section of the club to shine in their monthly medal competition. Yet again Lewis Cottam (26) produced an excellent round to score a net 67.

In second place with a net 71 was M Vincent (40) closely followed by Kai-to-Li (12) with a net 72.

Langmoor Trophy

IN addition to the medal format the bogey competition is perhaps the truest test of golfer against the course where the player scores positive or negative points according to whether they achieve a net par, a par, or a bogey or worse score.

Inevitably an overall score of net zero is a good score with anything as a plus score even better.

With a field well in excess of previous weekend's events, competition was hard fought for the honours.

In the end first and second places were achieved by two pupils of Club Assistant professional Sarah Burnell, Steve Piper (24) and Bob Taylor (7) who scored a highly impressive plus 6 and five respectively.

In third place, also with plus 5, was Paul Liston (9).

Cricket club bowled over by new practice nets

BRIDPORT Cricket Club is indebted to a number of local sponsors for the provision of a set of badly needed practice nets which were officially opened last Friday at the Brewery Ground.

Club chairman Paul Edwards welcomed a selection of the 36 sponsors to a short ceremony before the club's training session.

In his address he thanked all those that had contributed to the cost which would have been beyond the club's means.

"The old nets were in a poor state and we were quoted £7650 to replace them. Even by doing some of the work ourselves it was going to cost £5760 which was way beyond the club's means.

"We are therefore extremely grateful to all the sponsors who have helped contribute towards what you can see are a wonderful set of nets.

"Not only are they of a high quality they are 12ft high instead of the old ones at 10ft which will help some of our bowlers with a high hand action!"

Among the sponsors who were invited to attend were Freshwater Beach Holiday Park (Rod Condliffe), Mark Broad Fund (Nikki Broad), Nantes Solicitors (Mike Harvey), Palmers Brewery (Cleeves Palmer), The Lions Club of Bridport (Don Morley), The West Bay Hotel (Paul Crisp) and Bridport Round Table (several members).

The cricket club's treasurer John Good, 1st team captain Mark Smith and junior coordinator Liam Toohill were also present.

Other sponsors who have donated are: A G Down Ltd, AP Chant Plumbing & Heating, A J Wakely & Sons, Ackerman Engineering Ltd, Bridport Town Council, C G Fry & Sons Ltd, Country Gardens, Delta Building Supplies, Four Seasons kiosk, Fowler Tool and Plant Hire, Good News, Haddon House Hotel, Hallmark Windows (South West), Harbour Bonfield Ltd, Huck Cricket, Jewson Ltd, Kennedy Estate Agents, Mac Building Contractors Ltd, Martin & Co Accountants, Mrs Sylvia Griffin, Mrs Vivien Smith, R A Poole Plasterer, R J Leaf Wrought Ironwork, Sim Scott Electrical Contractors, Steve's Hairdressers Ltd, Symonds & Sampson, Townsend Engineering Lts, Co-op Store and Gemma's Flowers.

Bees show promise in anniversary celebration

BRIDPORT 3 DORCHESTER TOWN XI 1
Saturday, July 9th

BRIDPORT gained revenge for their defeat at the hands of Dorchester 125 years ago in their first competitive match with a comprehensive victory in this pre-season friendly writes Stuart Broom.

A shirtsleeve crowd of 360 were treated to an entertaining first-half in which Bridport came from a goal down to lead 2-1 at the break, although with Dorchester introducing a number of trialists in the second half the game petered out as the Bees kept their shape to add a further goal to reflect a fair scoreline.

Dorchester having already played Yeovil Town and Exeter City in the previous three days selected a side with just a smattering of first team player which included Jamie Symes who was made captain for the day against his former club. There was also a start for the Magpies first summer signing Ben Dickenson, who was playing his first football of the season having tweaked his ankle within 20 minutes of the start of the first pre-season training session.

The club are excited by the speed of the former Christchurch forward and he showed that when he outpaced Shane Evans down the left after six minutes, but he fired his angled shot wide.

Two minutes earlier Sam Charles showed that he had improved his speed during the season's break when he latched on to Gary McAuley's ball over the defence, but Dan Thomas raced out his goal to block his effort.

After Sam Filkins had similarly blocked a George Kimber effort after a one-two with Dickenson, Matt Condliffe, who had an outstanding game, fired high and wide, and Matt Moors looped a header over the bar.

With Bridport starting to dictate, it was against the run of play when Dorchester took the lead on 21 minutes after Adam Symes brought down Rico Wilson on the left corner of the penalty area.

Wilson's free-kick was blocked but the ball eventually found Jamie Symes who curled his shot beyond Filkins from 15 yards.

However Bridport were level four minutes later when trialist Ben Martin tripped Charles on the edge of the box.

Darren Watts showed he had lost none of his accuracy by curling the 20-yard free-kick beyond Thomas and into the corner off the underside of the bar.

Charles then had his 25-yard angled shot pushed away by Thomas after Russell Legg had split the Magpies defence.

At the other end Wilson should have scored with the goal at his mercy after being put in by sub Seb Broomfield but stumbled allowing Evans to clear.

The miss proved costly because almost immediately Charles beat Thomas to a long ball out of defence but his toe poke was going well wide before Moors, chased the ball wide before chipping the ball from an acute angle just inside the far post to give Bridport the lead six minutes from the break.

Broomfield had a chance to square matters before the interval when Dickenson cleverly played him in, but Filkins just got enough on the ball to deflect it wide.

The second-half never really took off as a spectacle. Dorchester made several changes which consequently broke the flow of play, and with so many new faces on show their game became disjointed, whilst Bridport kept their shape and dominated the game.

Sub Tom Richardson on for Moors at half-time had an early chance but his 15-yard shot struck the outside of the upright.

However he sealed the win five minutes from time when he met Joe Charles' flick on from sub Gary Bulman's corner to volley past a crowded Magpies goalmouth.

Chris Senior looked cool and assured at the back whilst Adam Symes complimented Condliffe on the other flank for Bridport. Few impressed for the Magpies except Dickenson, who despite poor service in the second-half showed glimpses of the quality that they believe will see the county town challenging for promotion this season.

Magpies cruise past Glovers

DORCHESTER TOWN 4 YEOVIL TOWN 1

DORCHESTER Town cruised past a Yeovil Town side full of trialists in their first pre-season friendly of the season on Wednesday.

Ashley Vickers also decided to ring the changes at the break replacing all but Nathan Peprah-Annan, looking for a fourth spell at The Avenue, with three of the trialists, Seb Broomfield, Harrison Bell and Ryan Dovell all getting on the scoresheet.

Apart from the early minutes when former Gashead Dominic Blizzard thumped his header against the angle of the goalframe from Alan O'Brien's corner, Dorchester were rarely in trouble, and it was Glovers keeper Martin Horsell, who had a brief spell at Dorchester in early 2008, who was the busier keeper.

He made a good save from Ryan Moss' close range header after a flick on from Chris Flood, before he had to thank his defender for clearing a Flood effort off the line.

Dorchester took the lead on half-time when Moss's neat back heel gave Flood space to curl his shot around Horsell from the edge of the box.

They increased their advantage nine minutes after the break when an unmarked Broomfield headed home James Coutts' free-kick.

Yeovil substitute Kiernan Hughes-Mason produced some neat footwork in beating two defenders soon after before firing in a low 20-yard shot that Simon Evans pushed away, before Dorchester increased the lead midway through the half when Dovell picked his spot with a carbon copy of Flood's goal.

Yeovil pulled one back when Rhys Kelleher ran the ball into an empty net after Evans had turned away Lewis Perkins fierce cross shot, but the impressive Harrison Bell wrapped things up with a fourth when he headed home Coutts' corner a minute later.

Sign up for the beach tag rugby festival

THIS Sunday (July 16th) sees the annual RFU beach tag festival on Weymouth beach, and teams are being encouraged to enter and make this event the best ever.

This is the 10th year that Weymouth has paid host to the RFU beach rugby. In the early days it was a length of rope, a rugby ball and see who turned up, but such is its popularity that the RFU organise and run beach rugby events all over the country.

Such is the interest that since that first year Weymouth RFC has been running weekly beach rugby sessions on Wednesday nights throughout the summer with ever increasing numbers.

The event takes place in front of the Alexandra Gardens, and there is still time to enter a team, you can even turn up on the day and register if required.

Teams can be of mixed ages and genders, but no younger than five years old, and adult supervision is needed for under 18s.

Any team combination is great, i.e. all males, all female, mixed male and female.

A squad should consist of no more that 10 people with five players on the pitch at all times.

Each side can have an agreed number of rolling substitutions (normally maximum of five per game).

Substituted player can be re-used at anytime, substitutions may only be made when the ball is 'dead' at a natural breakdown in play, or at half-time with the referee's knowledge.

Each match is to be made up of two halves; each half should last for five minutes, with a one minute interval at half time. In finals, halves can be up to 10 minutes with a two minute interval.

The Dorset & Wilts Referee`s Society has kindly provided volunteers for the day.

Registration takes place at 9.30am, after which the draw will be made of the pools.

The games kick off at 10 am and the day is scheduled to end at 5pm.

To register a team please contact Chris Davis on 07576129254 or Glyn Arnold 07707036432, or email weymouthbeachrugby@live.co.uk. Copies of the rules, team entry forms and under 18s consent forms will be sent out.

Teams from Weymouth, Dorchester, Blandford, North Dorset, Saracens and other local groups have already registered for what is seen a growing social event involving the whole family.

Go on give your granny a run out down the wing!

■ HELP! This Sunday's tag beach rugby festival is open to players of all ages and gender. Photo by CHRIS DAVIS
